Senators Are Tiking the Cuban Resolutios To Death.

SPEECHES AND SPEECHES

Several Months More of Oratory Are Prospect.

MESSAGE FROM CLEVELAND IS EXPECTED

He Has in the Subject of Cuba and Cubans.

Washington, March 20 .- (Special.)-The today, an effort to force a vote upon them in the senate on Monday failing. Sherman had announced that he wanted to speak on the subject again tomorrow, but Gorman noved adjournment over until Monday and Nothing is so urgent with the senate as the right and privilege of senators to speak. A dozen of them are loaded with Cuban speeches, and they must have an opportunity for oratory. Until they have de vered their orations no vote can be had. The work of the administration has had its effect. I understand Mr. Cleveland is to send a special message to congress perhaps on Monday on the Cuban question, giving to congress the information he has regarding the condition of affairs on the island and citing the laws on which he has based his action in arresting and retaining ships loaded in our ports with supplies for the Cubans. It is said he will simply state what has been done and will give his understanding of the situation without making any recommendations to congress.

Debate in the Senate. Washington, March 20 .- The debate on the Cuban question occupied most of the time of the senate today. It was opened by Mr. Caffery in continuation of the speech begun by him yesterday in earnest sition to all interference in the mat ter; and it was closed by an equally earnest appeal by Mr. Call in favor of the Cuban insurgents, or patriots. Before the conference report on the Cu-

Before the conference report on the Cu-pan resolutions was taken up Mr. Allen ad-dressed the senate in opposition to the claims of Mr. Dupont to a seat in the sen-ate from the state of Delaware. One of Mr. Allen's points was that no senator should be admitted without a gubematerial certificate or without an application for a mandamus for such certifi-cate. Mr. Chandler suggested that that

Mr. Dupont being recognized as senator.
A motion to adjourn until Monday was made by Mr. Gorman, and, in the absence of Mr. Sherman, objected to by Mr. Lodge, who desired to have action on the Cuban resolutions.

A call of the senate was had in order to give time for Mr. Sherman to return to the chamber, and sixty senators responded. In the meantime Mr. Sherman returned, and he expressed the hope that the motion to adjourn over would not be agreed to unless there was first an agreement reached as to a time for taking the vote on the Cuban resolutions. To that proposition a strong objection was made by Mr. Hale on the ground that two-thirds of the time occupied in the Cuban discussion had been A call of the senate was had in order to on the ground that two-thirds of the time occupied in the Cuban discussion had been occupied by the members of the committee of foreign relations or those who sympatifized with their report and that there were many senators who desired to be heard on the other side of the question.

The vote was taken on all of the policy of the committee on privileges and elections, Perkins, Procord, Norgan, Nelson, Perkins, Procord, Service, Carrey, Cannon, Carter, Chilton, Cockrell, Davis, Dubois, Faulkner, Gibson, Gorman, Gray, Hale, Harris, Hill, Irby, Jones (Arkansas), McMillan, Martin, Mitchell (Wisconsin), Morrill, Pasco, Peffer, Platt, Pugh, Roach, Sewell, Smith, Stewart, Teller, Thurston, Turple, Vilas, Walthall, Wetmore, White and Wolcott—42.

Nays: Baker, Blanchard, Brown, Call, Chandler, Clark, Cullom, Frye, Gallinger, Kyle, Lodge, Mills, Mitchell (Oregon), Morgan, Nelson, Perkins, Proctor, Sherman, Shoup, Tillman, Vest and Wilson—22.

Mr. Mitchell, chairman of the committee on privileges and elections, reported joint resolutions for the election of United States senators by the people and gave notice that as soon as possible he would move to have it taken up and considered.

"As one of the minority of the committee," Mr. Chandler said, "I give notice that the motion of the senator from Oregon will be viggrously opposed."

Mr. Gray, democrat of Delaware, another member of the committee, said that the views of the minority would be prepared and submitted to the senate.

Continuation by Caffery.

Continuation by Caffery. The conference report on the Cuban reso tions was then taken up, and Mr. Caf ery continued the speech begun by him of recognizing belligerent rights was sively in the executive branch of the Mills, democrat of Texas, said that he had intended to address the senate. on the Cuban question today, but that as Mr. Hale had complained that the advocates of the resolution had had more than their than the resolution had been senate. He spoke of the opponents of the resolutions. Is critized the argument of Mr. Caffery.

Mr. Call relied upon "outrages upon American citizens in Cuba" as a reason for taking into consideration the recognition of belligerency or of independence in that island. As to what was called "international law," he asserted that there was really no such thing. It was only something that was gathered from the writings of the totime.

Mr. Platt wanted to know what the sentor from Florida thought that the United States ought to do.

"The first action would be to say what Mr. Seward said to Spain; and then see that effect that would have. The next would be to reneal or modify our next said.

That is what I would do An to the ately. That is what I would do. As to the teats of privateering upon American commerce in case of war with Spain, what a marce have we to prey upon? Privaters can do us no harm. But there is no splittly of war."

In relation to the last bill Mr. Chandler, republican of New Hampshire, raised a laugh by saying that he had an unfavorable impression made upon his mind about it from a long speech made in its favor at the last session by the junior senator from Louisiana, Mr. Blanchard.

SITE FOR FEDERAL PRISONS SOON TO BE SELECTED.

Colonel Livingston's Bill Is To Be Discussed by the House Committee on Appropriations.

Washington, March 20 .- (Special.)-Attorney General Harmon will meet with the appropriations committee of the house norrow to discuss Colonel Livingston's bill, appropriating $300,000 for the selection of three sites for the three federal prisons lready provided for by congress.

To several congressmen who discussed the matter with him today the attorney general said he thought it would have been best had the sites been selected before an appropriation for them was made. They could be purchased cheaper before than after a specific appropriation was provided.

It having gone so far, however, Mr. Harmon will probably recommend the immediate passage of the Livingston bill. By the way, Mr. Harmon thinks At-lanta the best location for the southern

Judge Culberson, of Texas, was present at the department of justice today when the matter was being discussed. "I can't tell you all that occurred," said he, "but Atlanta will get the southern prison if you people work for it. The impression at the department is that Atlanta is the best place for it."

Mr. Boatner Unseated. After the Bayard censure was disposed of, the house in very short order unseated Mr. Boatner, of Louisiana, declaring his seat vacant. Mr. Boatner now goes home to make a canvass of his district for re-election. The people will vote on the question on the 23d of next month.

and Mr. Boatner will undoubtedly be returned by an increased majority. Has Received No Invitation. I asked Judge Lawson today if he had made reply to Colonel Bob Howard's invitation to meet him in joint debate at Monticello on the 25th.

"I have received no invitation from Mr. Howard for a joint debate," he replied. When I become a candidate I will meet any one in joint debate who desires it." Further than this Judge Lawson had nothing to say. He has not yet announced himself for re-election. E. W. B.

THIRTY-FIVE CONVENTIONS. New York City Was in the Throes Last Night.

New York, March 20 .- Conventions were held tonight in all the thirty-five assembly districts in the city to choose delegates to the republican state convention to meet here next Tuesday. The latter body will select four delegates at large and four alternates to the national convention. In the twenty-fifth district it was necessary to call upon the police to clear the floor and maintain quiet. In the thirtieth district the aid of the police was also re-quired and the unique spectacle of two conventions in one room (Platt and anti-Platt) was enjoyed. The din was deafening and, of course, two sets of delegates were elected. Two sets of delegates were also elected in the thirty-third district, where a tumult reigned for twenty minutes. The police here, too, restored order and but for their presence serious trouble would probably have occurred. In the thirty-sec-ond district convention it was nearly mid-night before an organization could be effecte. Upon a preliminary matter the Platt wing was outvoted by 62 to 48. The Platt men thereupon bolted and org another convention. The police did their utmost to preserve order. It is claimed by the anti-Platt people that sey elected their delegates in the first, second, thirteenth, eighteenth and twenty-seventh districts. Two sets of delegates were elected in several districts. Among the prominent delegates are Chauncey M. Depew, Edward Lauterbach, William M. Evarts, Frederick S. Gibbs, exriam M. Evarts, Frederick S. Gidos, ex-Postmaster VanCott. In several conven-tions resolutions indorsing the candidacy of Governor Morton were adopted. In other districts there were no resolutions and in no case was any other candidate than Mr. Morton mentioned.

A PROTECTIONIST KICKS. Says That There Were Many Who Objected to a Combine. Philadelphia, March 20.—Some of the Philadelphia manufacturers, who were present at the conference last night in Washington with the silver republican senators, are dissatisfied with the report of the meeting as it appeared in the papear. senators, are dissatisfied with the report of the meeting as it appeared in the papers. They allege that the report furnished of the conference was in the nature of an ex-parte one and did not fairly represent the views of all present. Among the gentle-ment who take exception to the report is Charles H. Harding, of the firm of Erben, Harding & Co., yarn manufacturers. Mr. Harding today gave out the following let-ter:

ington between the silver senators and some gentlemen from this city and elsewhere is not a complete statement) of facts, and several persons are thereby placed in a false position. My own experience is the simplest illustration. A gentleman said to me: Mr. Clark has a letter from the republican senators who voted against consideration of the Dingley bill, in which they say they would like to see some of the Philadelphia manufacturers and business men. He does not know what they have to say; but they particularly wish to have some gentlemen who are known not to be silver men, in the company. Mr. Dolan, Mr. Dorland, Mr. Dobson and Mr. Searcy are expected to go; will you also go? We do not know what is to be done, but think the matter important.

is to be done, but think the matter important."

"I agreed to go and meet the party at the train. No one on the train was prepared to say what was to be expected. When the conference began the silver senators stated their reasons for their treatment of the Dingley bill; said that it was final, gave their present attitude toward all tariff legislation, and announced that it was not to be changed. It must be a protection and free silver hereafter for them, and that, by virtue of the position of their minds on the situation. Besides what was said (and is reported) by those manufacturers whose names are given, supporting the proposition, there were remarks made in dissent, more or less vigorous, by Mr. Crow, Mr. Croft, Mr. Miler. Mr. Vroom, Mr. Campbell, Mr. Holmes and myself. Others shared our opinions, and Mr. James and Mr. Fisier authorize the use of their names as among them.

"The absolute suppression in the ac-authorize the use of their names as among them.

"The absolute suppression in the account given to the press of these expressions, and of the fact that we made such protests, discredits all the conclusions that may be drawn about the harmony and influence of the meeting.

"There was perfect frankness and everything was done, of course, in courtesy and good humor; but to muzzle many, as is done by the published report and to put a large number in the apparent position of supporting a movement which they positively repudiate, is to do us a serious wrong. It may be a smart game of politics, but it looks like a very useless one, if not hurtfuls to the cause those gentlemen seek to further. C. H. Harding."

REFORM CLUB DINNER. Speeches by National Civil Commissioners at Boston.

Boston, Mass., March 20.—The regular nonthly dinner of the Massachusetts Reform Club was held this evening at Young's hotel, about 125 members and guests being present. The special guests and speakers of the evening—National Civil Commission ers John G. Proctor, John B. Harlow and William G. Rice—sat at the head of the table. After the menu, in a few appropriate remarks, President Hale introduced the first speaker, Mr. Proctor, who spoke upon the progress of the reform since the pasthe progress of the reform since the passage of the law thirteen years ago.

Mr. Harlow followed with an elaborate address upon the relation of the veteran soldier to the civil service.

Commissioner Rice's illustrations of how the members of the present cabinet had observed the spirit of the civil service law in appointments not covered by the law elicited repeated applause.

Postmaster General Wilson's recommendation in favor of the division of the postal service into districts was read by Richard H. Dana and measures were adopted by the club for bringing the influence of its members to bear upon congress in favor of those recommendations.

BRADLEY FOR PRESIDENT. Southern Republicans Are Demanding

Recognition. Louisville, Ky., March 20.—A secretly called meeting of the executive committee of the republican league clubs of the south was held fast night at the Hotel Victoria, President Burns, of Atlanta, pre-siding. Ten states were represented by proxies or in person. Governor Bradley and H. Clay Evans were indorsed for president and vice president and a determined effort will be made for instructions by every southern convention. The men present felt that the south demanded a place on the ticket and that this action will force the acceptance of one man of the two mentioned on whatever ticket is nominated at

WILL BAYARD DO AS HE SAID?

Once Threatened To Resign Should He Be Censured.

HOUSE ACTED YESTERDAY It Was a Vote on Strict Party Lines,

However,

THE REPUBLICANS MADE CAPITAL OF IT Mr. Bailey. of Texas, Made a Strong Speech Supporting the Resolu-tions of Censure.

Washington, March 20 .- (Special.)-By tives this afternoon passed the resolutions to censure Ambassador Bayard. All of the representatives voted for the resolutions of censure. They were joined by a few senator, notably among whom wos Mr. Bailey, of Texas.

Mr. Bailey delivered a speech in con lemnation of Mr. Bayard's conduct, declaring that in his Boston speech Mr. Bayard had committed a breach of good taste and of diplomatic etiquette-an offense against our common sense and sound and rugged patriotism.

Mr. Bailey concluded by stating that Mr. Bayard was unworthy to represent this country anywhere or at any time. The representatives applauded Mr. Bailey enthuslastically. The senator smiled, ninetenths of them really approving his utterances. Mr. Bailey's speech was a calm and dignified statement of facts and every one recognized that he was correct in the position he assumed.

But for the fact that the representatives have endeavored to make it a political matter many of the senators, in fact nearly all of them, would have voted for the resolution of censure. E. W. House Session in Detail. House Session in Detail.

Washington, March 20.—The battle over Ambassador Bayard's Boston and Edinburgh speeches, which has raged in the house for three days, ended today when, by a vote of 180 to 71, the resolution reported by the committee on foreign affairs censuring him for the use of certain expressions contained therein was passed. The second resolution, expressing the sense of the house that no partisan speeches should be made by a diplomatic officer, was agreed to by a vote of 191 to 53. The resolution of censure received the affirmative votes of six democrats—Balley, Cockrell, Cummings, Latimer, Layton and Sorg, and five republicans voted against it—Baker, of Maryland; Cooke, of Illinois; Draper, Pitney and Willis.

The resolution describes received the votes of eight democrats—Atlan, of Mississippi;

of eight democrats—Allen, of Mississippi; Balley, Cummings; Hutcheson, Layton, Pendleton, Sorg, Stokes. The negative vote was solidly democratic. The closing speeches were made by Messrs, Adams, of Pennsylvania; Fairchild, of New York; Newlands, of Nevada, and Bailey, of Texas, in favor of the resolu tions, and Wheeler, of Alabama; Willis, of Delaware: Hutcheson, of Texas, and Turner, of Georgia, in opposition.

The Benoit-Boatner Case. The contested election case of Alexis Benoit vs. Charles J. Boatner, from the fifth Louisiana district, was called up by Mr. Johnson, of Indiana, chairman of the the adoption of the resolutions reported by the committee declaring the seat vacant and that no valid election was held.

Mr. Bailey, of Texas, moved as a substi tute the resolutions recommended by the minority that Mr. Boatner was entitled to hold his seat. It was explained that, at the suggestion of the committee, Mr. Boatner had agreed to submit the case to the house today without argument. The reason for this was that in case the house should concur in the report of the committee and unseat Mr. Boatner, tomorrow was the last day on which the governor of Louisiana could give notice of a new election in the district, to be held at the general election of the state April 21st. Mr. Taylor, of Ohio, read from the report of the committee, which substantially charges that the election in question was permeated with fraud, violence and intimidation, and the committee presented a resolution declaring therefore the seat in congress from the fifth congressional district of Louisiana to be vacant.

Mr. Boatner presented to the house portions of the report of the minority, after which Mr. Benoit, the contestant, was accorded the floor for ten minutes. In that time he briefly sketched the condition of things in the district, asserting that the negroes were either prevented from voting at all or compelled to vote the democratic ticket.

The resolution of the minority was rejected, yeas 59; nays 131, and then, without a division, the resolution of the majority declaring the seat vacant was agreed to.

At 5 o'clock the house took a recess under the rules until 8 o'clock for the regular Friday night pension session, after which it adjourned until Monday next.

CONSIDERATION CONCLUDED. Senate Committee on Appropriations

Ready To Report. Washington, March 20 .- The senate com mittee on appropriations concluded its con-sideration of the legislative bill today. A net increase of $165,109 is made to the hous bill. The act for 1896 carries $21,891,718; the estimates for 1897 amounted to $22,365,051, and the house allowed $21,380,765. The bill as it will be reported to the senate will carry $21,545,874.

The senate bill adopts the increased salaries of United States district attorneys and marshals recommended by the commit tee on the judiciary, with the exception tee on the judiciary, with the exception that the United States district attorney that the United States district attorney for the southern district of New York and District of Columbia are exempted from the provisions substituting salaries for the fee system. The provisions of the house bill fixing the term of office of United States commissioners and regulating the fees such commissioners may charge are stricken from the bill and a new section substituted, making it the duty of the attorney general to make an investigation into the subject of compensation by salary or otherwise of United States circuit and district court clerks and United States commissioners and report a plan at the next session of congress.

Their boat missed the lock, the pilot being Linded by the fashlight of another vessel, and they went in a rapid current to within about six feet of the falls. With the assistance of another boat they got through the lock all right. Congressman Catchings was making a speech at the time and the party was not aware of the danger it had escaped.

PAY FOR CARRIERS.

Atlanta's List Will Go from $600 to $1,200.

Washington, March 20 .- The house postto regulate the pay of letter carriers. It fixes the pay of carriers in cities of more than 75,000 population at $600 for the first year's service, $800 for the second, $1,000 for the third and for the fourth and thereafter $1,200 per annum. In the cities of less than 75,000 the salaries for the first three years are the same and $1,000 is the maximum. The senate bill defining fourth-class mail matter we as to exclude bulky parcels now sent by various executive de partments was also favorably reported.

THE EGYPTIAN CAMPAIGN.

HELD YESTERDAY. House of Commons Found Itself Very Much Divided-Morley Spoke of

DISCUSSION OF THE MATTER WAS

a Lack of Confidence. London, March 20 .- In the house of commons today Mr. G. N. Curzon, under foreign secretary, stated that the Italian government had communicated to the British government the information that there was a prospect that the dervishes would make an attack upon Kassala, and pointed out the effect which such an attack would have upon Egypt. Mr. John Morley asked if a majority of the Egyptian debt commission were com petent to sanction the proposed expenditure for the Dongola expedition.

Mr. Curzon said that the commission controlled two funds. The larger of these, which was derived from a conversion of the Egyptian debt, required the inanimous consent of the powers to authorize expenditure of the whole or any part thereof, but the smaller one, a reserve fund, amounting to £2,500,000, he said, might be disposed of by a majority of the commission. During the debate of the estimates Mr. John Morley, amid cheers from the liberal benches, moved to reduce the vote for the foreign office in order to call attention to recent events in Egypt Mr. Morley said, in reply to a question, that unquestionably his motion sought a vote of censure upon the government and recalled the circumstance that he himself had moved a similar vote, in 1885, upon the then liberal government in condemnation of its policy in Egypt. ley admitted that the occupation of Egypt by Great Britain had been productive of great benefit and many blessings to the people of that country. (Conservative cheers.) But he said the long continuance of that occupation had been fraught with great disadvantages to Great Britain. It was an unfortunate step the government was taking to delay the evacuation of Egypt and divert Egyptian funds from the purposes of Egyptian development and the application of the money to England's own purposes. (Protesting cries of "Oh," "Oh," from the conservative benches.) The new policy, he declared, would impose upon Egypt the duty of governing one of the most difficult territories on the face of the earth. The government, Mr. Morley said, had not explained their policy and the ministers had declined to treat the house with that confidence that the country had reason to expect on the eve of so great an undertaking. So hazardous a proposal, he held, could never be justified a reason so meager, flimsy, irrelevant and hollow as the one advanced.

Mr. Morley's remarks were received with prolonged liberal cheers.

Mr. Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonial department, said it would be impossible to pass judgment upon the policy of the government unless the gov-ernment first made up their minds definitely in regard to the immediate evacuation of Egypt. Nothing in recent history, he said, could be looked back to with more pride and satisfaction than the peaceful revolution in Egyptian affairs, which had been accomplished with a handful of men and a British civil administration. If Egypt should be abandoned all this would be undone. Egypt must be defended if her prosperity was to continue. The consent of a majority of the powers had already been given to Ergland's plan of meeting the expenses, and the government had no knowledge leading them to assume that the consent of the remaining powers would be finally refused. If the result of the British ex pedition should in a measure relieve Egypt from the constant menace of attacks by the dervishes the expenditures incurred would be more than compensated for. It would be impossible to fulfill England's duty to the people as long as the der vishes were permitted to threaten peaceful industry by their constant raids.

The defeat of the Italians in Abyssinia had created a new situation. If Kassala should fall the ill-effect upon Egypt would be incalculable. The various tribes of the Soudan were putting aside their interne-cine disputes and combining in a great ef-fort against Egypt. The wisest policy was to anticipate their attack and prevent the dervishes from concentrating against one object. Whatever the Egyptian advance might ultimately be, he said, it would be limited only by the nature and extent of the resistance encountered and the maintenance of the security of the

Mr. Henry Labouchere said the government should wait before taking action until Egypt is attacked by the dervishes. The reluctance on the part of the ministers to disclose their plans, he declared, concealed a large scheme. Mr. Labou chere predicted that the expedition unless checked by disaster would go to Dongola, Khartoum and Darfur.

Khartoum and Darfur.

Mr. Henry M. Stanley, the explorer, who represents the north division of Lambeth, in the interest of the liberal-unionists, asserted that Egypt had a right to raclaim her former frontiers and that the opportunity to do so had come. The total defeat of the Mahdists, Mr. Stanley declared, must precede the independence of Egypt.

The Right Hon. George Curzon said that the expedition would take a strongly defensive position at Akasheh, where it would remain until the hot season, when if it thought desirable, it would proceed to Dongola. The government, he added, possessed proofs that there was a general ferment among the dervishes, and that they were threatening Kassala and the Nile valley.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt, the opposition leader in the house, said that the government was entering upon a long, dangerous and uncertain enterprise. It would not state the true object or define the real limits of the expedition. He believed it would be condemned by the people.

lieved it would be condemned by the people.

The Right Hon, A. J. Balfour, first lord of the treasury and government leader in the house, said there was nothing in the expedition to excite suspicion or alarm in France. The operations had no relation to the British occupancy of Egypt. The position of Egypt could not be satisfactory until the country regained control of a large part of the Soudan. Everything gained for Egypt would be gained forever. It would not be an advance followed by a retreat. He was convinced that in the interests of Egypt and of Egypt alone, the government was well advised in initiating this policy.

A vote was then taken on Mr. Morley's motion and it was defeated—288 to 145.

Signor Taroni Caused a Suspension of of the Sitting.

March 20 .- During the discussion today by the chamber of deputies of the credits asked by the government, Signor Paolo Taroni, radical member for Lugio, demanded the recall of the Italian troops from Africa. He held that the military swerable for Italy's fatal colonial policy.

Signor Taroni was repeatedly called to order and his arraignment of the government was greeted with shouts of "Enough," "Sit down." The hubbub finallyy became so great that the sitting was suspended for a time. Upon the resumption of the sitting Signor Sonning, form y minister of the treasury, denied a state nent that had been made that the followers of ex-Prime Minister Crispi desired to raise a question of confidence in the gov-ernment. He appealed to all the members Italians Held Prisoners.

The Standard will say it is of the opinion that a strong motive to induce Mr. Bayard to ignore the vote of censure and to remain at his post, is found in the fact that the friendly tone which succeeded the initial bitterness of the Venezuelan questions was largely due to his personal exertions. Englishmen, the paper says, would genuinely regret his departure.

DEATH OF MISS MCLAURIN.

Daughter of Mississippi's Governor Passes Away. Jackson, Miss., March 20 .- On account of the death of Governor McLaurin's daughter, a senior of Brandon Female college, this evening at 4 o'clock with measles, the legislature did not adjourn. The governor received telegrams at noon to come at once, and he and his family left for Brandon in private conveyance, reaching there a few minutes before the daughter's death. The legislature will adjourn from day to day so the governor may have time to act on 100 unsigned bills now on his desk. Miss McLaurin would have been seventeen years old in June.

INSURANCE MEN AGITATED. They Claim That They Have Been Leg-

Philadelphia, March 20.—From information received today the seizure of arms and ammunition made yesterday by the Spanish in Cuba is not so important as the official dispatches from Havana would indicate. The munitions seized were not those taken out on the Mallory, but were from the schooner Arkell. The Arkell was at anchor at a place called El Vavadero. All the arms aboard had been landed, save 145 cases of ammunition when the gunboat Caradad hove in sight. The men on the Arkell abandoned the schooner and hastily escaped to the shore. The Caradad seized the Arkell and 145 cases of ammunition.

Burned Weyler in Effigy. Trenton, N. J., March 20.—General Weyler, captain general of Cuba, was tonight burned in effigy by fifty students of the State Model school. They met on the banks of the Assapink, near the school, and held a mock trial of the general. He was charged with a long list of crimes and no one spoke for him. The boys displayed several Cuban flags and cheered themselves hoarse for Cuba.

Favorable Report Regarding Senators

A LONG COMMITTEE REPORT

Recent Deadlocks in Kentucky and Delaware Pointed To.

SOME EVILS THAT WILL BE RID OF

Demand for the Change Is Loud and Prolonged-Some Vital Points Are Presented.

Washington, March 20.-The senate com mittee on privileges and elections today made a favorable report on the amendment to the constitution providing for the election of United States senators by a direct vote of the people. The report is very voluminous.

other things, it says: "In the judgment of your committee any movement that looks to the right of the people to be heard directly in the election of senators cannot but result beneficially to all concerned. The adoption of this proposed amendment will, in the judgment of your committee, bring the senate into more amicable relations with the people. It will remove prejudices now existing which are rapidly becoming deeply and dangerously fastened upon the public mind. It will invoke a spirit of mutual forebearance and respect as between the senate and the people which unfortunately does not now exist to that degree that is de-sirable. It will restore confidence. It will tend to elevate the character, advance the dignity, increase the usefulness, extend the influence and justly magnify the power of the senate and at the same time promote the welfare of all the people of the republic. The tendency of public opin ion is to disparage the senate and depreciate its dignity, its usefulness, its integrity, its power. If there is any cause for this tendency in the public mind it should be removed without delay. Although the senate of the United States should be and in fact is the most di as well as the most important legislative body in the world, the tendency in public a large degree to detract from its impor-tance, minimize its dignity and power and cast the spirit of obloquy over and around it and its members. While your committee are of the opinion that the impression which leads to all this is to a very great extent at least not well founded yet it extent at least not well founded is a fact that cannot be ignored that it

People Are Hemmed In. People Are Hemmed In.

"One weighty and principal objection to the present system of electing senators by the legislatures of the respective states," the report continues, "is that the power and right of the industiquat voter are hedged about and circumscribed, his will is manacled, his volition paralyzed, he cannot vote for his choice. He cannot, in fact, vote directly at all, but must content himself with casting a vote for members of the legislature, who may or members of the legislature, who may or may not properly represent his wisher the vote they may cast for senator. carries with it the implication that the people, the qualified voters of a state, are for some reason unit for the full exer-cise of the elective franchise, except in a qualified and largely restricted sense present system in practice, purpose and effect a declaration that for some occult reason which is no way made manifest, it is unsafe and prejudical to the public interests to commit the election of senators to a vote of the people." Interests of State Suffer.

The committee points out that the ma-terial interests of the state suffer by reason of protracted senatorial contests that are of frequent occurrence. Instances in New York, Oregon, Washington, Mon-tana, Idaho, Wyoming and Kentucky are cited. "The recent contest before the legislature of the state of Delaware, the report, "is fresh in the public mind, resulting in the claim now pending of Mr. Dupont, to a seat in the senate while the daily reports of the interminable contest in the legislature of the state of Kentucky, with no result after many weary months of fruitless balloting, adds strength to the proposition of your committee." Continuing on this line, the report says: "But another vital objection to the elecin another vital objection to the elec-tion of senators by the legislature and in favor of the change proposed must be apparent to all. How frequently is it true that in the selection of members of a state legislature at a time when such legisla-ture has the election of a senator, every consideration is lost sight of except the solitary one as to how candidates, if elected, will vote on the question of the senatorship? The question as to the candidate's qualifications for the business of general legislation or the views he enter-tains with reference to the great material interests of the state are wholly lost sight

Popular opinion has, the committee says, taken hold of the subject and the demand for this change is loud and emphatic. The for this change is loud and emphatic. The belief in the public mind is rapidly gain-ing that proper deference is not given by the senate to the demands and the inter-ests of the people. In conclusion the com-mittee says: "The people demand a voice in the election of senators and should in the judgment of your committee be re-spected. So, whatever may be said to the contrary, whatever may be thought of the sanctity of the constitution as it stands it must be admitted by all that the people are becoming restive under its restraints on the rights of those entitled under the constitution and laws to exer-cise the elective franchise. The move-ment of the people in the interests of the people on this, as on many other questions, is stalwart and universal and the sooner this great fact is recognized by the representatives of the people the better."

MUST SHOW TAX RECEIPTS

Supreme Court of Tennessee Sustains the Election Law. Nashville, Tenn., March 20.-(Special.)-

The supreme court today delivered an opinion in which they sustained the validity of the law compelling a man to show his poll tax receipt. In view of the fact that the committee of governor's election in the last legislature threw out thousands of votes where voters were not compelled to show receipts, this decision is of great importance. The case came up from Wayne county. H. S. Old was indicted for illegal voting in an election for justice of the peace in October last. The charge was that he voted without exhibiting to the judges satisfactory evidence that he had paid his poll tax; that he did not

"Failures for the week were 261 in the United States, against 278 last year, and 49 calm, and then followed by terrific squalls. Rain fell intermediately all night. At about 10 o'clock p. m. a large cloud was observed due west of this place, which rapidly moved around to the southwest and finally disappeared over the southwest and finally disappeared over the southern horizon. The cloud was brilliantly illuminated as long as it was in sight and looked as though it was reflecting some general conflagration from the earth. in Canada, against 35 last year. "A movement toward better things is still he exception. There is better business in shoes and small industries and there has been a squeezing of short sellers in cotton

"But the general tendency of industries and prices is not encouraging and those who were most hopeful a month ago are still waiting, not so hopefully, for the expected recovery. A sharp decline in the prices of cotton goods is the comment of mills on rising cotton. Goods now average lower than since May, 1895, having declined 4.2 per cent for the week; print cloths to 21/2 cents, which is only a sixteenth above the lowest price on record. The accumulation of goods in the face of rapidly diminishing demand has brought the closing of one of the largest mills and others are con sidering the same step. "The iron industry shows but a slight werage decline in prices, as combinations still insist upon the highest prices of ast year, and the demand is naturally curtailed. Quotations are deceptive because lower prices are constantly made to secure ousiness, but with ore and coke combinaions demanding high figures, hesitation is inevitable. Minor metals change little, but aluminium, by misprint quoted here erroneously last week, sells at 50 cents.

Speculation in cotton has caught shor sellers in trouble and just because they thought prices must go lower, the shorts go on without regard to supply or demand but neither the government report of last week nor the fall in goods and closing of mills give rise to expect more than aspecu weak though rather stagnant, weight of facts is felt, as western receipts for three weeks of March have been 8,982,481 oushels, against 5,624,929 last year. The report of the tax committee relative to the petition of Wellhouse & Sons for exemption from taxation was taken to the Wellhouse factory, it will be remembered, was burned several months ago. It was located on Decatur street, and the machinery, as well as the building, was destroyed. The firm at once began work for a new building equipped with the very best machinery, all of which meant a large outlay of money. This induced the Wellhouse firm to ask the general council to gize an exemption from taxation. The petition was presented to the council, and took a reference to the tax committee. At the last meeting of the council the tax committee suggested that the firm should be given an exemption of ad valorem toxation on its machinery, which was given a value for a term of five years. The report of the committee was adopted by the council, and when it was brought before the board, that body concurred in it. What It Was and What It Is.

"It is the most dreadful spot on the American continent!" said a distinguished Frenchman who once visited the notorious New York slum known as the "Five Points.". The same opinion was expressed by Charles Dickens after going through this dangerous quarter with an armed police escort. The five points, in those days, was famous as the abode of thicves, thugs

In recent years, this unsavory district has undergone a marked improvement. Today it compares favorably with similar quarters of other great cities and most of this improvement is due to the celebrated Five Points mission and its army of Christian workers. This excellent organization has performed and is performing a great and noble work.

One of the greatest works of the mission s to minister to the sick and it is a work that has been highly successful. And yet the officers of the mission have been enabled to combat a vast amount of sickness and afford relief in many critical cases with the aid of but one standard remedy. It is, of course, a remedy well known to

Augusta, Ga., March 20.-(Special.)-The hostile meeting between Messrs. Boykin Wright and James Barrett ended today with a hearing before the recorder and a fine of $5 upon Mr. James Barrett. Mr. W. H. Barrett, Jr., the recorder, was disqualified from presiding by relationship, and Mayor Young acted as recorder.

Mr. Whight was present and was repre sented by Hon. Joseph B. Cumming. Mr. Barrett did not appear, and was represent ed by Mr. William E. Jackson, Jr., who entered a plea of guilty for his client. The testimony of Messrs, Buist, McCarty and Elrod, the witnesses to the encounter, was the same as has already been published in your columns. Mr. Boykin Wright made the following statement:

"After writing my card regarding Mr. Barrett's character I went prepared for him for several days, during which time I met him twice on the streets and he showed no disposition to resent it, or at-tack me. He then published a card saying that he banished the whole thing from his mind. I then no longer expected an at-tack from him. On the occasion in ques-tion, however, he noticed that I had my hands up, putting on my gloves and was unprepared for an attack, hence he made the assault. I have no hesitancy in saying that I went prepared for Mr. Barret some days and would not have permitted a man of his size to approach me to make an assault."

The case against Mr. Wright was dismissed and Mr. Barrett was fined $5. Thus ends without damage to anybody what might have terminated very seriously had the attack upon Mr. Wright been made at the time of the newspaper controversy.

were the only accommodation there a year ago.

A survey for the extension of the company's railroad to Satilla Bluff, on the Satilla river, was made about six months ago, and the road will very likely be built in the near future. The line has been completed to Folkston from Camp Cornelia, a distance of twelve miles, and only twenty-five miles will have to be built to complete the Satilla Bluff extension. From Satilla Bluff the company will run a line of towboats to South Brunswick, at the mouth of the Satilla river, and connection will there be made for New York, via the Mallory line. Thus, when the company's road to Satilla Bluff has been completed and the l'ne of towboats have been put on the Satilla river, a-direct route will be obtained to the Mallory line. At present the commany's traffic is done through the port of Fernandina, which is reached via the St. Mary's river.

Every director of the association has, been notified of the meeting and there is every reason to believe that every one will be present, as the session will be an important one. The special to The Constitution from Mobile, printed yesterday morning, indicates that Nashville don't care to play ball with Atlanta this year, unless Mobile will put up the $500 Nashville and other clubs of the association demand. Atlanta, however, has many reasons to believe that something like a compromise can be made which will suit both towns.

It may be, however, that one of the two will have to be wiped off the map and another town substituted.

And yet it may be that the dropping of

And yet it may be that the dropping of both will be necessitated and a six-club association formed.

At any rate there will be baseball in the south this year. Without an exception each of the cities has signed players—some all they want, others more than they will carry and others a good nucleus for a team. Without exception the eight towns holding a membership when the roll was called in Mobile last Sunday had each made an outlay of money to secure the team called in Mobile last Sunday had each made an outlay of money to secure the team wanted for 1896.

Not a dollar of that money could be called back, as it was all in the nature, practically, of advance money. One club had checked from its bank nearly a thousand dollars and from that it drifted down to about $200.

To throw up the association means a loss To throw up the association means a loss of that money.

In Atlanta everything is moving along smoothly. The grounds are being put in excellent shape under the personal direction of Manager Knowles. Every evening he and Norton and Horner go out and work. Callahan is liable to drop in any day and by the last of next week the players will be coming in rapidly.

This afternoon the Baltimores will work against a Mercer university team in the Central City. The Champs and the 'Varsities will play for the benefit of the Macon library. Next week the Orioles will divide into two teams and play aseries of games for the same purpose.

SOLDIERS DEFEAT THE TECHS.

Exciting Game of Baseball Yesterday at the Fort.

The baseball team of the Technological school played a game of ball with the Fort McPherson nine yesterday afternoon and was defeated by a score of 9 to 8.

A series of games is being played between these two clubs. The first also resulted in the defeat of the Techs by a score of 12 to 2, and the third and last contest will be played this afternoon at the fort.

The Tech boys are a clever lot of fellows, and put up a good game of ball. The fort team clearly outclasses them, but notwithstanding this fact it is with the notwithstancing this fact it is with the greatest difficulty that the soldier boys succeed in turning down their opponents. Harmon Cox pitched a good game yesterday for the Techs, very few hits being made off his delivery. Schultz did the boxwork for the fort. Only one hit was made off him up to the seventh inning, when he seemed to lose his nerve and was batted all over the field, netting the Techs six runs.

The Techs nine was as follows: Everett. Whitney, Lafette, Cox, Johns, James, Hart, Hill and McCall. The fort team was composed of: Collins, Miller, Millett, Rankin, Stevens, Schultz, Sobeasky, Greenly and Eames.
The Tech boys are preparing for games with Mercer university on April 11th, and with the University of Georgia on April Dublin, Ga., March 20.—(Special.)—An important and neat capture of a festive blind tigerite was effected Tuesday morning by Sheriff Joiner. The officer had received notification from the sheriff of Johnson county that an individual named Cap Morgan was wanted on four indictments for operating a blind tiger and to locate him if possible, as he was hiding somewhere in Laurens county. Morgan, under the impression that he was safe, drove where in Laurens county. Morgan, under the impression that he was safe, drove into town and took a position near the depot of the Macon, Dublin and Savannah railroad. He had not been there a half an hour before the willy sheriff took him in custody. On being searched four large pocket knives, a huge, long barreled pistol and an ugly looking pair of brass knucks were found in his clothes. Morgan has defied the authorities for several years. His old gray-haired father has pleaded with the erring son, warning him to turn aside from his evil habits, but all the pleading proved fruitless. The grand jury of this county also indicted him for seling liquor unlawfully. He sold wnisky to old and young, regardless of age. It is said that a false friend betrayed him to the sheriff.

Richard Williams Complained at the Time He Says He Was Beaten.

TOLD THE PRISON OFFICIALS

Turnkey Gallagher Remembers a Crying Negro Who Swore He Would Never Go Back.

Chief of Police Connolly has not yet taken action in the case of ex-Detectives Conn and Mehaffey, who are under indictment by the county grand jury for assault and battery on the person of Richard Williams. Considerable information about the case is being secured by the chief and he may conclude the investigation today.

Yesterday morning ex-Turnkey Thomas Gallagher and Janitor Jeff Arnold were questioned about the case and both rémember enough of the matter to show that Williams cafled their attention to the alleged fact that he had been beaten at the time the assault is alleged to have occurred. Officer Gallagher is not positive that Williams is the negro who made a signifi-cant remark to him, but he says that the negro may be the same one.

Janitor Arnold says that Williams said that he had been beaten in the detectives' office. That was when Williams was brought downstairs from the detectives' ffice and lecked up in a cell. The janitor locked the negro up and he heard him telling some of the prisoners about how he was whipped. The janitor remembers the case well, he says, and he stated to the chief that it was Williams who made the remark to Turnkey Gallagher.

"Would Go to H-l First." Officer Gallagher says that about January 11th one of the negro prisoners under his charge complained, and that when he asked the negro what he was crying about the prisoner said that he would never go back to the detectives' office again. The back to the detectives' office again. The turnkey says that the negro said that he would "die and go to h—l before he would go back." At that time the prison was well filled with prisoners and in the rush the turnkey did not pay particular attention to the negro who was crying and made the remark.

Chief Connolly is of the cpinion that the negro referred to by Officer Gallagher was Williams. The accounts of the occurrence appear to the chief to establish the fact given by Janitor Arnold and the turnkey that it was Williams who cried and complained of his treatment in the detectives' office by Conn and Mehaffey.

Ex-Chief of Detectives Wright will be asked about the case this morning. be asked about the case this morning. Other persons who may know something of the case will be questioned by the chief before he makes a report of the matter. When the investigation is concluded a report of it will be sent to Chairman Branan of the police board. The head of the board will probably decide what is to be done in the matter. Mr. Branan and Chief Connolly have expressed themselves to The Constitution as being opposed to such methods of securing confessions from prisoners as Williams alleges was practiced upon him. The authorities state that the proper action will be taken.

He Didn't Ask for It.

He Didn't Ask for It. When Chief Connolly returned to his of-fice from dinner yesterday he found on his desk a little document which he did not expect there. Glancing at the paper, his desk a little document which he did not expect there. Glancing at the paper, he found that it was a certificate purporting to be signed by Drs. M. C. Martin, W. A. Childress and Allen D. Johnson to the effect that the signers had made an examination of Williams yesterday. The chief did not request the physicians to make the examination and when he investigated the matter he found that the certificate had been placed on his desk by one of the detectives interested. The physicians certified that they had made a minute examination of Williams and had failed to find any external evidence of any recent injury of any kind. They found some old marks or scars on Williams's back, which he claimed were caused by a dog bite. The doctors attempted to examine the negro in another manner, but were not successful in the experiment. They found that Williams complained of a soreness under the left shoulder blade, which, in the opinion of the physicians, was caused by rheumatism, if affected at al.

Dr. Childress on Record.

Dr. Childress is the physician who attended Williams when he was released from the police station. He was a witness before the grand jury. It is said that he explained to the jury the nature of the injuries on the body of Williams which he treated. It is said that he told the jury that Williams was in a bad way on January 14th, when he was called to attend him, and that he was quite ill for some time afterwards. The negro's kidneys were affected, the doctor is said to have remarked to the jury. When asked about the case by a Constitution representative Tuesday night, Dr. Childress stated that Williams was injured about the back of the neck or shoulder as if struck by a weapon of some kind. The physician said that the negro's kidneys were injured as if struck and bruised by something. The physician said that Williams was in a bad way for several weeks and that he went before the grand jury as soon as he could get about. The doctor said that Williams told him that Conn and Mehaffey beat him while in the detectives' office a day or two before the physician was called in. The negro was released on the 13th. The doctor examined him on the 14th.

Stirring Novel. The heroic devotion of the women of the south to the cause of the confederacy has been the theme of song and story. It is not strange, then, that a southern woman of the days of 1861 has been made the central figure of a war play; the wonder is that it was not sooner done. "A Woman of War." such a play, was presented for the first time in this city last night at the Grand by Miss Virginia Stuart and her as-

"A WOMAN OF WAR."

This play is a dramatization of General Felix Agnus's novel of the same name and could not, therefore, be otherwise than interesting and at times thrilling. The action of the play hinges upon the discovery and arrest of a young southern woman, whose home is within the federal lines, as a spy. She has been furnishing informa-tion to her lover, a confederate officer, by means of a carrier pigeon. The bird is caught by the enemy and her arrest fol-

In the third act the heroine is tried before a court martial of federal officers. The court appoints on officer to defend her, but she refuses his services. Asked if she conshe refuses his services. Asked if she confesses guilt she answer "no," but says she avers that she has been doing all she can to aid her cause. She is willing to die a martyr's death. An officer pleads insanity for her, but she scorns the plea and bids them do their worst. She is found guilty and condemned to die at daybreak the next morning.

The last act is a camp scene. The condemned woman is brought out and, after a tearful parting with her friends, is about to be shot, when a pardon arrives and she is welcomed to the arms of her lover. The story is well told and some of the climaxes are strong. The dialogue abounds in patriotic sentiments which were received with great applause. The tone of the play is pure throughout.

with great applause. The tone of the play is pure throughout.

Miss Virginia Stuart is an earnest, intelligent and painstaking actress and gave an acceptable rendition of the heroine's part, but she seemed scarcely to rise to the full possibilities of the climaxes. Still this may have been due to her wish not to overact the part and may be remedled.

Mr. Parker, as Major Duval, proved himself an actor of ability and did some good work. Mr. Quinn was quite satisfactory as Captain Hall. The other members of the cast were acceptable, though the entire cast might be strengthened.

"A Woman of War" should have a successful career, at least in the south. It will be repeated at matinee this afternoon and closes its engagement tonight.

that our theatergoing public is sure to appreciate is the appearance here on the evenings of March 24th and 25th of Miss Ada Rehan and the celebrated Augustin Daly comedy company in Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew" and "The Last Word," the most brilliant successes yet achieved by that superb organization. Her recent appearance in Boston called forth editorial comments from the leading papers of that center of culture. The Boston Herald said of her:

"Miss Rehan was the subject of most flattering attentions while in London, socially, as well as from the theatergoing public—deserved tributes to a personality that unites the qualities of a most charming lady with those of an exceptionally brilliant and graceful actress, whose delightful gifts in comedy have made thousands her friends on both sides of the Atlantic. In the interchange of courtesies of the stage between England and the United States, now so frequent, Miss Rehan stands in the front rank of the talented young Americans who have gained new haurels across the water. It would be hardly possible for her to stand higher in the affections of our public, or be regarded with more distinction in her present role as a star, than she was as leading lady of Mr. Daly's company. But her new position is, nevertheless, a promotion in her profession, and she thoroughly deserves congratulations for the honor."

Miss Rehan will be supported by the entire strength of the Daly comedy company.

Danger to the Party.

The proposition to postpone the senaforial primaries to October 7th, the day of the regular state election, is fraught with danger and possible disaster. But even if there were no danger whatever, and no possibility of disaster, the proposition to postpone would be absurd on the face of it. Why postpone from June to October a question that every democrat will be prepared to settle to his own satisfaction on the earlier date? In what way will postponement help the party or the candidates? What great scheme is wrapped up in the senatorial race that its settlement by the honest voters of the state should be postponed to a day when they should have all preliminary matters off their hands and be engaged in fighting the common enemy?

Viewing the proposition to postpone in the most favorable light, it is impossible to perceive what is to be gained by the party at large. Will some of those who seem to be interested in postponing the senatorial primary to the day of the state election inform us how the party is helped by it? Will it add to past year many thousands of miles of party harmony? Will it add to the party strength and unity? If so, how?

There is one significant fact to be borne in mind, namely, that the very element that is now trying to have the senatorial primaries postponed from June to October 7th is the element that opposed with all its influence the consolidation of the primaries, and that first opposed any primary action-soon or late-on the senatorship. The state executive committee, acting for the welfare of the party and in behalf of no faction whatever, consolidated the two conventions into one and consolidated the primaries for the election of delegates on June 6th, remitting to the county executive committees the proposition to submit the question of senatorial candidates to the people. The very fact that the proposition to hold the senatorial primary on the day ordered for other primaries is opposed by the element that has fought the simple, harmonious and uniform plan of the state committee all the way through is sufficient to east suspicion on the object that is sought to be gained. This element has not only fought the plan adopted by the state committee, but has actively opposed any action at all on the question of giving the people an opportunity to express their choice for senator, as suggested by Judge Crisp. Why should an element so contentious be afraid of party harmony? Why should it shrink from and oppose a plan intended to bring out the full vote of the party? Why should it oppose the suggestion that the people have a right to express their choice for United States senator? Why should this contentious element desire to slide this particular primary into the midst of the state election? Why should it be afraid of the people in the first place. and why should it set its cuckoo alarm clock to strike loudly every time a proposition is made to give the people a full and free opportunity to register their will?

This is one of the problems that reasonable men are unable to solve-the apparent belief of a set of individuals that, in a state as democratic as Georgia, they can defy the will of the people with impunity by means of the scheming and manipulation that have met with some success in the states to the north of us. We do not know what basis these individuals have for their belief that they can carry out their plans without regard to the wishes and desires of the people; but we do know this-that they they do have to meet the people face to

Thus far this element has not me with any great degree of success in their efforts to smother the voice of the people. The last state convention, repre senting the common sense of the people and the best opinion of the party, suggested by resolution, unanimously adopted, the consolidation of the preliminary work of the party, so that the energies of the voters may be concentrated in the campaign and not against one another in the petty conflicts between candidates for party recognition and indorsement. This plan is represented not only in the consolidation of two conventions into one, but also in the consolidation of the primary elections practically into one. The state committee has set the 6th of June as the day for the holding of these primary elections, and to the discretion of the county exec utive committee is left the right to give the people an opportunity on the same day to express their choice for United States senator. What could be simple or more conducive of harmony?

On the other hand, a contentious ele ment, with the intent and purpose to throw obstacles in the way of party harmony, has opposed the plans of the committee from the start. This ele ment opposed the plans when they were first suggested, and step by step has opposed every proposition to strengthen and harmonize the party, and it is now fighting to postpone the senatorial primary to the day of the state election and thus, if possible, inject a faction fight among democrats at a time when every voter should be doing his utmost to maintain party harmony and unity.

We do not think the county executive committees will allow themselves to be misled into such a dangerous trap. On the 7th of October all democratic voters should be acting together in behalf of the election of the state and legislative ticket. Imagine the spectacle if the senatorial primary takes place at the same time! Two ballot boxes, one for regular election and the other for the senatorial primary; the enemies of the party having things their own way at the regular election while democratic voters are contending with one another at the primary box!

There is danger in the proposition to postpone. Let the county executive committees follow the example of Fulton and order the senatorial primary for June 6th.

One Thing Which We Might See. Even hard times are not without their valuable practical object lesson. When the financial panic came on, five years ago, the farmers were among the first to feel its effects. They shifted their sails to meet the changed conditions. They practically the closest economy and lived more off their own acres. This economy on their part was felt more keenly perhaps, by the railroads than by any other branch of commerce. The great transportation companies began to turn their sails to suit the light trade winds which were blowing. These corporations had to retrench and expenses were pared down with a sharp knife. Retrenchment continued until the operating expenses were brought down to bed rock. In the meantime relief from pressing obligations was found by many companies in receiverships. Within the road have emerged from the courts. Now we find that the roads are showing increased net earnings week after week. This is not so much due to a larger vol ume of business as it is to less cost of handling the traffic, stability of rates and the comparative absence of labor troubles. It cannot be credited to an improved financial condition of the country at large, for the nation, as a government, has been running in debt during the last two years at the rate of $10,000, 000 a month

Suppose that the national finances had been so managed that the government would now be able, like the railroads, to pay its operating expenses and to have some net earnings at the end of every month; imagine the country moving along on a policy which maintained the parity between the debtor's dollar of bligation and the creditor's dollar of gold, and with the economies which are being practiced you would see an era of prosperity which could not be matched in the history of the world.

Popular Vote for Senator.

The gratifying progress of the movement to elect senators by the people is such as to give ground for hope that the time is not far distant when this important matter will be left entirely in the hands of the people, and taken out of the uncertain and unsatisfactory channel of election by the legislature.

The election committee of the senate vesterday reported favorably to that body the joint resolution proposing an amendment to the federal constitution providing for the election of senators by the direct vote of the people.

The committee accompanies its favorable report with unanswerable arguments in favor of the proposed change, which it says is demanded by the peo-

John C. Winder's Illness.

Major John C. Winder, of Raleigh, N. . is reported to be critically ill, having suffered a stroke of paralysis Wednesday night. Major Winder was for many years officially connected with the Seaboard Air-Line Railway Company, He was general manager when the system was extended from Monroe, N. C., to Atlanta and he was actively identified with the work which gave Atlanta a new outlet to the north. When he was general manager and the late Moncure Robinson was president, the Seaboard enjoyed its nost prosperous years. It was one of the best paying railway properties in the country. Major Winder's policy was progressive without going beyond the bounds of conservatism. He was successful in the management of his private business affairs and accumulated a comfortable fortune. About a year ago he retired from the vice presidency of the Seaboard after a long and faithful service. The news of his critical condition will carry profound regret all through the Atlantic coast states.

The Gold Contractionists.

In the course of a sensible and timely editorial article on the democratic out look, The Washington Post has the following reflections on the situation in some of the southern states: Do the democrats really intend to make fight? And if they do, how can they nake it with any prospect of success except by coming together, sinking their quarrels, resentments and hatreds and urning to the time-honored tenets and afford to proscribe and persecute each oth ause of gold and sliver, or because land they murdered their party in order t punish Mr. Gorman for having made it ct and triumphant. In I handful of fanatical monometallists were willing to turn the state over to the repub-licans rather than see Blackburn, the hoice of seven-eighths of the democracy, eturn to the United States senate. labama they are barking at the heels of Morgan and imperiling the integrity of the organization because a lot of cockoo office holders oppose his financial views. They no longer fight within the party and stand loyally by its deliberate and honest verdict. If they cannot rule, they ruin. The opposing party is nearer and dearer to them than the hostile factions of their Has this miserable madness gone too far to be arrested? Is it impossible for democrats to recover themselves, to vote the party's choice without eference to his views on silver or the tariff, to leave to the democratic convention the selection of a candidate and the formulation of a platform and then to support the chosen leaders and the au-thoritative utterances of the party in good faith, loyally, with honest devotion and enthusiasm? If not, then is the democratic party dead, indeed!

Leaving out of view the conclusions at which The Post arrives, it is undeniable that its description of the situation is well nigh perfect. What the gold contractionists have done in Kentucky they are anxious to do in all the democratic states. All they ask is an opportunity. In Kentucky, as our contemporary says. they were willing to turn the state over to the republicans rather than see Blackburn, the choice of seven-eighths of the party, return to the senate. Constituting an almost infinitesimal minority in the party, the gold contractionists have, nevertheless, been in a position to defeat the will of the people, and they have used their power with a relish that is a private bust? shows that they care nothing whatever for democratic traditions and principles but are willing to sacrifice everything in behalf of the republican scheme of the single gold standard and the contraction of the currency in the interest of the bondholders and metropolitan money lenders. As it has been in Kentucky, so it would be in every other democratic state were the gold contractionists permitted to carry out their plans. Their purpose is to rule or ruin. They have shown that they are not only willing but are anxious to sacrifice the party on the golden altar of the money power. And what more natural? If the gold contrac tionists are willing to see the most vital interests of the people sacrificed to the greed of the money power, why should they not be willing to sacrifice the democratic party and destroy it? What more natural than that these gold contractionists should prefer to see the republican party succeed rather than elect a genuine democrat to the United States senate where his vote would inevitably be recorded against their cherished plans? Let the people bear these facts in mind and profit by them. Wherever they see politician who declares for "sound" money-gold being the only money that hey call "sound"-they have before their eyes a man who, no matter how smooth his voice or slick his tongue, would rather see a republican elected to office than a genuine democrat.

Crisp and Free Coinage. The Savannah Press seems to be especially unjust in its attacks on Speaker Crisp. Only a few days ago it declared that the distinguished ex-speaker allowed his opportunity to pass when he refused to accept the senatorial appointment made by Governor Northen. It gave him no credit whatever for declining the office, which, as he said at the time, it was the ambition of his life to hold, because his duty to the party demanded that he retain the position of speaker until the close of the session to say that it will receive the favorable in order that an unfortunate party conflict might not be precipitated just on the eve of the national elections. Among ose who were most earnest in their appeals to him to decline the senatorship were the most prominent members on the democratic side, who agreed with the financial policy of the administra tion-notably, Congressman' Isador Straus, of New York, and other no less rabid gold standardists, who united in a petition with other democratic mem ers of the house, urging Speaker Crisp been killed in the senate by refusal to to decline the senatorial promotion then act, if cannot be said that the outlook in his hands. Had Speaker Crisp ac for the passage of the resolution is as cepted the appointment-and he was strongly impelled by his desire to do sothe democrats of the house would have And yet there are indications that the been thrown into serious contention or already existing was sufficient to cause enough trouble without inviting other

A recent editorial of The Press, repro duced with conspicuous display by the "official organ" of the secretary of the interior, intimates-more than it directly charges-that when speaker the last time Judge Crisp so conducted himself as to be considered a "sound money man, the inference being that he was a gold standardist, because the kind of sound money" Judge Crisp favors is much sounder than the 200 cent variety advocated by The Press.

The Press says: When last speaker, democrats at home and abroad regarded Judge Crisp as a sound money man. He appointed the house committee that repealed the Sherman law and the last house coinage committee created by him showed a clear majority for sound money. Now that the campaign is on in Georgia Judge Crisp becomes a silver advocate. The distinguished ex-speaker is going to have a hard fight for the senatorship. He must confront strong men on the stump and account for his own change of views on the leading question of the day. The statement that Speaker Crisp, in his appointment of the house committee on coinage, gave the majority to the "sound money" men does him an injustice of which we are surprised that a paper of such honorable purposes as The Press would be guilty. It is a well known fact that the committee on coinage are composed of an indisputed majority of free coinage members when appointed by the speaker. Probably the strongest free coinage man on the committee was Kilgore, of Texas, who had been the most rampant and enthusiastic free coinage man in the house ever since he had been a member of congress. After Kilgore's appointment he was taken to the mountains, by the way of the white house, and it suddenly developed that Kilgore, the most intense of all free coinage democrats in the house, had lost his enthusiasm, and by the certain process of evolution Kilgore was soon transferred into harmonious action with he administration's views on the financial question. Of course, everybody knew that something was wrong and that the reason for it would soon de velop. About that time Kilgore's constituents in Texas met, and it did not take them long to get even with him for his miserable betrayal. They dropped him and nominated somebody else, and after awhile the secret of Kilgore's sud den flop became apparent, when he re ceived the appointment to a federal judgeship, which he now holds some where in Indian Territory. As it was with Kilgore, so it was with other members of the committee. One by one they were worked upon, and by the use of insidious influence the free coinage majority appointed by Speaker Crisp was altered. Before his appointment, Kilgore was no less enthusiastic in advocating free coinage than was the secretary of the interior three years ago; but, like the latter, no sooner did the smell of presidential appointment reach his sensitive nostrils than his convictions

Speaker Crisp had no more to do with Kilgore's treachery than he did with the twelve-day change of the secretary of the interior.

If there is any one thing above another on which Speaker Crisp's record is clear and indisputed, it is on the question of the free coinage of silver.

It seems that Mr. Pulitzer has got himself into trouble about the Canovas dispatch. At least, some of the other newspapers are of the opinion that Mr. Pulitzer is in trouble. For our part, we are of the opinion that Mr. Pulitzer s as happy as a gold contractionist ever can be.

One end of the McKinley boom seem o be swelled more abundantly than the other. Mr. McKinley is the man who said he wouldn't accept a nomination on a free coinage platform.

Kentucky is having her fill of republicanism and goldolatry.

With the Cleveland cabinet engaged in bolstering up the British gold standard it must be conceded that the president has revised his ideas of official proprie ty. See "The Life and Writings of Grover Cleveland."

"The Gibson girl," says The Philadelphia Record, has come to be regarded as the personification of just what the typical American society girl should be, and it is quite probable that those who have ido ized her as she has appeared in the pages of Life and other publications, will be rather surprised to know that she was formerly resident of Philadelphia. But instead of being what she seems in the pictures for which she has posed as model, she occupied a very humble sphere indeed. Her name is Rose Le Moine, and she was born in Cuba, her father being a Frenchman and her mother a Cuban. The latter died when Rose was very young, and she came to Philadelphia with her father. They were very poor, and when he finally died als she obtained employment with a family here to do "general housework." She saved a little money, went to New York, and secured a similar position there. Her striking appearance attracted the attention of Charles Dana Gibson, the artist, and he secured her services as model. She is now cured her services as model. She is now the maid of Loie Fuller, the dancer.

FACTS ABOUT DWARFS.

-Tit-Bits.

Dwarfs have always been looked upon with an affectionate wonderment. In Rome hey were so popular that the manufacture f freaks was a recognized trade. A tradi tional recipe for dwarfing is the application to the spine of an ointment made of grease of moles, bats and dormice.

Among the earliest famed dwarfs Philetus of Cos should be mentioned. He was a poet and the tutor of Ptolemy Philadelphus and was said to be so light that he carried weights in his pockets to keep himself from being blown away. He should never have tried such vain anchorage in our western yclone tract. Nicephorus Calistus mer ons an Egyptian dwarf, aged twenty-five and no larger than a partridge. Athenaeus crowds Munchausen by telling of a poe amed Aristratus so small as to ble. Marc Antony owned a dwarf, Sisyphus, recorded as less than twenty-four inches

Peter the Great gathered seventy dwarfs together on one famous occasion in 1710; had a dozen at a time drawn in a one-horse carriage and celebrated a toy wedding an a miniature wedding feast with a bride-groom thirty-three inches high, who danced a minuet to the keen enjoyment of the emperor. The Russians last century had a veritable dwarf mania, the midgets serving as pages and hostlers to the dogs. Turkey they are still in great demand and deaf and dumb dwarf is the ideal guard for a seraglio.

The good people of Liege once voman of thirty-two inches, who lived to one hundred years old. "I am going to deliver a speech in the house," said Cavanaugh, on the question of territorial history and I want you to look up the entire hi tory of territorial organization from the ordinance of 1787 to the present day and give me all the facts and statistics you can gather. I want it written like one of Macaulay's essays, and I am told you not announce that this would be done, however, at a convention other than the one which will name the delegates to the L Louis convention. republicans, intend to wait. When the Macon convention has finished its rork and the plans of the democratic campaign take shape then the republicans will begin to shuffle the deck. They are waiting for the convention at Macon to make the first show-down, and then they will determine upon their tactics.

Whether the combination will be made with the populists will then be determined. Just at present it is stoutly denied by repentatives of both parties that there is any chance for fusion. Those who have watched the drift of matters, however, eclare that there is an understanding between the leaders of the populists and republican parties, which will finally unite the forces of the two dependent upon the

Split in the Convention. The state convention, which will assemble in Atlanta on April 29th, from the present outlook promises a big split. There is practically a solid instruction for Mc-Kinley, and all of the districts and coun-ties which have thus far acted have named McKinley delegates with the exception of those in which the Reed forces have tried those in which the Reed forces have tried the boiling tactics.

The main object of the Reed delegation in the state convention will be the defeat of Colonel J. F. Hanson, who is a candidate as a delegate from the state-atlarge. It is the purpose of Pledger, who leads the Reed men, to have his law partner, Johnson, take the place of the man from Macon. This and the general condition of affairs will make the session of the state convention in this city very lively. In fact, the Reed men make the bold sertion that they will boil and instruct their own delegates if things do not go to suit them.

"These McKinley men have had things their way too long," said one the antitheir way too long," said one the anti-Buck men yesterday: "I propose to show that we can boss some, too."

WILL MAKE THE RACE TO SUC-CEED JUDGE CALHOUN.

Mr. W. H. Patterson Announces for the Legislature-How the Campaign Is Forming.

Colonel W. H. Hulsey will be in the race for ordinary.

He has announced his candidacy and making a vigorous campaign for the nomi-nation, which will be made on June 6th. This announcement of Colonel Hulsey comes after long deliberation and discussion. Some weeks ago he was approach-ed by a number of his friends, who insisted that he enter the contest and announce himself for the office of ordinary. He demurred for some time, but at last gave his consent to be in the race. It was made known that he intended to run sev-eral days before the action of the county emocratic executive committee.

Few men in the city have the strong political following of Colonel Hulsey. For years he has been one of the strongest men in this section and it has been gested upon several occasions that he make the race for congress. He has held back, however, until now, when he could forward as a candidate for ordinary. From forward as a candidate for ordinary. From present indications this race promises to be very lively and is assuming an interesting aspect. Ordinary W. L. Calhoun will, of course, make the race again and his long record has drawn over many in his support. Although Mr. H. H. Cabaniss has not amounced it is practically assured that he will also be in the field. "I cannot say," said Mr. Cabaniss when seen, "whether I will make the race or not, but I think it very likely."

With these three in the field the race for ordinary will be warm in every way. "I have intended for some days," said Colonel Hulsey yesterday, "to make it known that I will be a candidate. I have spoken to many of my friends about the matter and will be in the race to the very end."

Several new canddiates were mentioned yesterday in connection with the race for the legislature, and there was decided agitation in certain circles. It is announced that Mr. W. H. Patterson will be in the race. In fact, Mr. Patterson acknowledges that he will make the contest. Mr. Patterson is a well-known young business man and has many friends in the county. A true bill was yesterday found against Arthur Hanye, charging him with the murder of Will Spinks. The grand jury was in session several hours, and the case of Mrs. Owens, who is charged with shooting Tom Adolphus several weeks ago, was also taken up. No decision was reached in the case, and the grand jury adjourned until next Tuesday morning, when the case will be investigated.

The Mortgages Sustained. A final decree and verdict was taken in the case of the Winters Lithograph Com-pany against E. W. Blue, sustaining the mortgages given and finding for each as their claims appeared.

Nelson Case Wound Up.

The case of Levi Nelson was taken up yesterday morning and the final decree and verdict was taken, allowing the claims of creditors as they appeared in the mortgages. The report of Receiver L. B. Nelson was also received.

Forming a Stock Company. Harry Silverman is preparing to convert his cigar business into a stock company to do a wholesale trade in fine goods. The Eapital stock will be $20,000, with the privilege of increasing it to $50,000. All the stock has been taken.

Scalded to Death.

In Wednesday's Constitution there was a slight error concerning the sad death of little Wilbur Von Loon, who died last Tuesday. Instead of failing into a tub of hot water, as was stated, he fell from a large box, and in trying to save himself turned over a bucket of hot water on himself and was severely scalded, which resulted in his death. The little fellow was twenty-two months old, and his parents live at 494 Whitehall street.

Captain Jenning Sick. Captain Henry Jennings, of the police department, is confined to his room by illness. He was compelled to leave his duties Thursday night, and yesterday his condition had not improved. He has many friends who hope to see him out again soon.

present met yesterday afternoon in the inspector's office.

There were only a few papers before the body upon which reports are to be made at the next meeting of the general council, and only two or three of them required any particular care. The most important papers requested a building permit on Pryor street and the location of a wood yard on Trinity avenue, and upon both the committee wrote a report which will be indorsed by Building Inspector Pittmann before the general council.

"So far this month," said Building Inspector Pittmann, after the meeting, "this has been about the poorest month we have had since I came into office. The applications for building permits have been astonishingly few and the few that have been submitted show that the amount of money being expended is for small buildings. The tabernacle was full again, and Sam Jones made it warm, notwithstanding the cold outside last night. He announced that he would preach to men only again next Sunday afternoon at 8 o'clock and to the colored people tonight.

He began last night by saying: "I understand some of the theaters counted twelve or thirteen in the audience last night and the head man said he wouldn't how again until that mountebank, Sam Jones, left town. 1 am running in competition with nothing but the devil."
He selected as his text, "O Lord, gather not my soul with sinners."

"A man's associations in this life," said e, "determine his character, and his he, "determine his character, and his character will finally determine his destiny. A man is known by the company he keeps. No man can long associate with drunkards without drinking, with liars without lying, with swearers without swearing. You ought to be as particular about the company you keep as you are about the kind of food you eat. There isn't a devil in hell but what is made worse by bad company. There isn't an angel in heaven that isn't made better by good company. I would rather my boy would associate with my spaniel dog than with a bad man. I had rather run with a hog than with a liquor swiller. My principal objection to the Capital City Club is that they drink liquor. Do they all drink it? I've asked the fellows who joined the club if it made them any better, I want to ask another question: 'How many sound taters will you have to put around a rotten tater to save it? The rotten tater will get the sound taters every time. The best thing a man ever did was to look well to his company. The best thing we could do for this country would be to build a wall ten miles high around it, and fence off the mean, the vile and victous. I have been running with good folks for twenty years-folks that won't lie, won't steal, won't drink, won't gamble A whipping post would be a good thing to whip these black-mouthed fellows that go home drunk. They go down town, load up on mean whisky and sour beer and then, with an old stinking pipe in their mouths, go home to a nice, sweet wife. "Every whisky drinker is a menace to society. I can't afford to run with that crowd, and any man that will, will get to drinking like they do. I had as soon put a ladder to the highest building in this city and attempt to climb to the top of it with an armful of slippery eels as to run with that sort and be decent. "A preacher not long since said to a saloon keeper standing in his door in this city: 'Don't you sometimes get tired of th's business?' 'Oh,' said the saloon keeper, if you could see the crowd that gathers here and hear their dirty, filthy jokes and horrid oaths, you would think hell was going on earth.' Oh, that is hard-earned money that the barkeeper gets. I had rather work on the railroad at 30 cents a sand dollars a day selling liquor. said, 'What a pity that boy should be chained to that vicious demon!' to drink is a fool. A fellow that will gamble and wants his boy to gamble has no sense.

"Your children will come on after you —hear my message. Cut loose from the associations that are damning you!

"I have thought about both worlds. The sweetest and happiest picture that heaven could present to me would be that of my mother standing on the golden streets with my father, and myself standing there heside them, with my wife and children by my side.

"I don't know whether I shall get to heaven or not, though all the money I've got in the bank is God's, and I am His. It seems to me I should suffer on if I went there alone. But if you would make hell intolerable to me, let me hear the shrieks of my boy in the dark caverns saying 'I have followed you to the hell of the lost,' and then the walls of my next boy saying 'I have followed my brother and he followed you.' Then turning to the left hear my precious girl saying. 'Father, I have followed you,' and then my wife saying 'It you had been faithful none of us would have been here.

"I will not be instrumental in the ruin of my boy, and if he goes to hell at last, he shall go over my prayers, and my example I would not have been here!"

The effect of the sermen was powerful. Fathers and mothers went forward and promised to lead their children aright by setting them examples of Christian living. A deeper and more solemn impression has not been made since the meetings began.

would you think of little children about to eat a pudding fighting over the name of it? A rose would be sweeter than dog The secret of who bought the bonds of the Columbus Southern from Messrs. Parrott, English and their associates has been well kept. The negotiations were conducted by New York brokers and the owners of the bonds said that they did not know who furnished the money. This may be absolutely correct. The main thing in which the owners of the property were interested was to find a purchaser. They were not particular whence he, it or they would you think of little children about to eat a pudding fighting over the name of it? A rose would be sweeter than dog fennel no matter by what name you call it. Whenever I do not preach holiness I want to be called off. A sweet young lady in a community I knew taught a school. She loved to talk religion and would do so whenever occasion offered. Some folks said she was a little cracked. I said if you call that cracked I'd like to burst wide open. Get the thing, no matter what you call it.

"Whosoever is born of God cannot commit sin.' An honest man who is honest cannot steal. A truthful man who is truthful cannot lie. A sober man cannot be a drunkard. But when the Bible says a Christian that is a Christian cannot sin, you deny it. The same logic will force you to admit the proposition. A man may have lived sober all his life and then go down town and tank up on mean whisky; so a truthful man may lose his character for veracity. Then he is a llar. If you commit sin you are a sinner.

"I never heard much about the flesh until I joined the church. Whoever heard of a fellow saying, when arraigned for murder: Judge. I didn't do it, but the flesh did it.' The judge would say: Take the old carcass out then and hang it. The further you put a fellow from the flesh the worse he is.

"But one says we can't live with sin. I would like for him to write down a list and show me what sin a fellow can commit and get to heaven. The devil don't care when a fellow says: Tim going to do better,' but when he steps forward and says: 'By the grace of God I am going to do better,' but when he steps forward and says: 'By the grace of God I am going to do better,' but when he steps forward and says: 'By the grace of God I am going to do better,' but when he steps forward and says: 'By the grace of God I am going to do better,' but when he steps forward and says: 'By the grace of God I am going to do better,' I take these little try-try-again fellows. I will give you my hat with my head cut off in it if you will find try, try again in Southern had acquired the property. Then it was reported that Mr. Plant had bought the bonds with the purpose in view of get-ting control of the Georgia Midland and Gulf and in that way reaching Atlanta from Florida by way of Albany, Columbus and MacDonough Time ran on and nothing has occurred to strengthen that report. On the other hand, it looked as though the bondholders of the Georgia Midland bought the property in themselves and they appear to be going ahead with the reorganization.

But some things which have been going on of late indicate that the Columbus Southern bonds were bought by the Central. Why would the Central want that road? To save revenue. Last year cotton rates out of Columbus were manipulated and the Columbus Southern took a great part of the business away that the trail, with a consequent loss of revenue, to that system and possibly a further loss in its effort to meet the manipulation. Fifty cents a bale sounds like a big cut, but it has been suggested that this figure is not exceeding the mark. In a movement of 100,000 bales this would amount to $50,000. If the Columbus Southern bonds brought $250,000 the owners made a good sale. Six per cent interest on that would be $15,000. A saving of 10 cents a hundred on 30,000 bales would be equivalent to the interest on the bonds. So if the Central has secured control of the Columbus Southern and can make it pay operating expenses it is bound to come out way ahead of what it would be with the little road ander an independent management. tral, with a consequent loss of revenue, And this is why some people would guess

"A Christian has purity of character. Affinitles control us in this life. Some so-called Christian you have to pull off from evil. In certain parts of Scotland they have rubbing posts. This is not a very elegant illustration. but it illustrates. These rubbing posts are for the sheep to rub against when they get vermin on them. Whenever you see certain members of the church at doubtful places they have come down to the devil's rubbing post. They have got insects on 'em. Show me what you love and I will tell you what you are. God loves the good, and your affinities will put you on his side if you are good. It is not the thing, but the love of the thing that debauches and damns the soul." There is also some gossip of two other First is the extension of the Suffolk' and Carolina road, at present extending from Suffolk, Va., to Montross, N. C., from the latter place to Edenton, N. C., an important shipping town in Eastern North Carolina. By this extension not only Edenton but other important towns adjacent will be put in direct connection with the Norfolk and Western and the Seaboard Air-Line systems at Suffolk, and the Suffolk and Carolina will serve as a feeder to those two large systems, opening up a rich country which furnishes heavy shipments of truck and lumber, etc., none of which these systems are receiving from that territory at present. The other one in view is the extension of the Roanoke and Southern railroad from Winston to Charlotte, N. C., a distance of about one hundred miles railroad from Winston to Charlotte, N. Rumors of Financial Troubles Enabled the Bears to Make Some Impression on Stocks.

New York, March 20 .- The transactions in stocks today aggregated only 149,631 shares, of which 39,600 were Tobacco, 11,700 St. Paul, 11,600 Louisville and Nashville, and 8,100 Tennessee Coal and Iron. The trading of late was confined exclusive ly to the professional operators. The opening was weak. The attitude taken by France in the Egyptian matter has dis turbed confidence abroad to some extent. Local operators were sellers of the Grang ers, Louisville and Nashville and certain of the specialties, but the offerings for this account were on a very small scale A number of unfavorable reports were circulated as to the financial standing of leading commercial firms here and in Bos It was even stated that a national bank was in trouble, but close investiga-tion failed to develop anything of a definite character. Still the bears were enabled to make some impression on prices, and at one time the decline was equal to 1403 per cent, Louisville and Nashville, Telfassee Coal, the Grangers and the Northern Pacoin, the dangers and the greatest losses. Tobacco displayed considerable strength, and on the revival of the reports of an early settlement of the war with the outmanufacturers the stock rose to In the late trading the market showed a tendency to improve owing to the

tAsked tEx-in

Dow, Jones & Co., New York, New York, March 20.—In London there is much apathy and little bullishness. A cable received this morning says: "St. Paul acts weak, and we feel a little bear-Sugar-Refined, fair business; most grades are oversold, and ship nents therein are delayed.

It is understood that a bear interest in the market has shaken Tennessee Coal and Southern railway for effect on other stocks. The decline in Tennessee Coal and Iron has brought a good deal of room selling and shaken out at least one round lot of stock held by a southern operator. The selling has been accomplished by reports of a gecline in the price of iron and loss of earnings. It was rumored last night that the Tennessee Coal and Iron Compa-ny had made this week some large sales of iron at a concession in price, but still at a very fair profit.

The great question in American Tobac-co is in regard to the likelihood of a dividend. Opinions on this point are conflicting, and it looks as though the insiders themselves were not agreed. Some traders think the holding of the stock around these prices means realizing. Others point to the fact that the brokers who have been the largest buyers in the last few weeks are still large lenders. Bears on the stock make the point that as an 8 per cent stock with a trade war on hand, Tobacco would be dearer than Sugar, or the 12 per cent stock with no war on hand.

McIntyre & Wardwell's Cotton Letter. New York, March 20.—It was a very irregular market, and in the end it declined, owing to long liquidation, partly regular market, and in the end it declined, owing to long liquidation, partly for Wall street account, and also owing in some measure to bear hammering, yet the market also received support toward the close from prominent local disterests known to be friendly to cotton, and, there, fore, the net decline for the day was slight; in fact, it was only about 3 points, and the close was steady, with sales of 186,000 baies. New Orleans at one time was 8 points higher, but lost the improvement and closed 305 points lower. At one time New York was 45 points higher than yesterday. The Liverpool news on the whole was favorable, the receipts were light, the stocks are comparatively small and there was some new buying. Besides shorts covered considerable. Manchester was quiet. Spots here declined 1-16c with sales of 150 bales for spinning; middling uplands 7 15-16c. Houston expects tomorrow 90 eto 1,000 bales, against 3,032 last year. New Orleans expects 2,500 to 2,800, against 3,104 last week, 6,125 last year and 3,351 in 1894. Farm work in Texas is backward. Liverpool declined 203 points, but railied 2½ points, closed steady at a net decline of ½01 point for the day. Spots there were in buyers' favor; sales were 8,000 bales. Port receipts today were estimated at 11,000, including 'various, 'against 18,287 last week and 18,335 last year. Total for the week estimated at 66,000, against 70,737 last week and 118,535 last year. Interior receipts for week estimated at 24,000, against 55,644 last year. Interior stocks will probably lose 25,000. The actual figures show ceipts for week estimated at 24,000, against 55,644 last year. Interior stocks will probably lose 25,000. The actual figures show the loss for the week in interior stocks of about 28,000 bales. The exports were large, reaching 24,000 bales. At Fall River yesterday 100,000 pieces of print cloths were sold. Today's decline was only a natural reaction.

Hubbard, Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, March 20.—It was the foreign markets which displayed the strength this morning, the decline not being as great as the trade expected, and the greater portion of the decline was recovered before the close of any business. Locally, the market has shown weakness, though the absence of any speculative demand for cotton, as the dry goods market has been so demoralized that those who would have been buyers of cotton under the ordinary circumstances, were lookers on in Vienna rather than actual participators in the movements of the market. The local short interest covered during the early days of the week, and the market has shown today the weakness which naturally arises from the withdrawal of a short interest and the adsence of a buying demand. For the answer as to whether this movement will be successful in permanently advancing the value of cotton, we must look to the cendition of trade and the progress of the new crop. If either of the known conditions in these two factors change so as to give encouragement to the trade we may expect a sharp advance, as the supply of cotton is relatively so small that any short interest will be more than timid. The market rallied during the afternoon from the lowest prices, closing setady at a slight decline from last evening. The market lacks Hubbard, Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

aggressive buying from speculative sources, though the situation is so far changed for the better that the trade no longer cares to be short. They generally believe the market to be a purchase on weak spots on the chances of further activity on the bull side, and decline to be caught again expecting a further fall, notwithstanding the depressed condition of the goods market. Receipts at the ports and at the interior towns no longer interest the trade, who feel that they know the future course of prices to depend upon other factors than the outcome of this crop.

The Dry Goods Market. New York, March 20.—Weather conditions have been much more favorable for business in the dry goods market and reports from uptewn show an improvement in the retail trade. In the primary market and in jobbing circles business has, however, been much as during previous days of the week.

Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, March 20.—(Special.)—The cotton market after a lively day closes a triffe lower than yesterday. Liverpool was nearly 3-64d lower this morning, but regained the loss. May opened at 7.71, advanced to 7.76, declined to 7.65 and closed at 7.68/07.69, with the tone steady. The prevailing feeling here is bearish, but the local traders have a wholesome fear of the leading operator, whose simple presence around the ring is a noteworthy factor in supporting the market. Under existing conditions it is difficult to forecast the immediate future of prices, but we incline to the opinion that the short interest is now so largely reduced that it will not be so easy hereafter to create a scare as it has been earlier in the week. We favor sales on rallies.

The Sun's Cotton Review.

The Sun's Cotton Review.

New York, March 20.—Cotton advanced 4@5 points, but lest this and declined 6@8 points on this crop and 2@5 points on the next, closing steady at a general decline through the list of about 3 points, with sales of 186,100 bales.

Today's Features—In the main the news was bullish and accordingly, in spite of a vague rumor at one time that trouble was impending in Wall street, and also in spite of considerable long liquidation and not a little short relling, the net decline was very slight, a rather significant fact in view of the recent sharp advance. Dry goods are quiet in New York, it is true, but Fall River sold 100,000 pieces of print cloth. The outside interest in the speculation is not so large as it might be, but still it is larger than it was recently. The Wall street rumor growing out of a routine meeting of the clearing house committee proved to be a weak invention. Consols were down, owing to the Egyptian dispute, but this fact had little or no influence. Liverpool sold in the liquidation of straddles, but not to any very large extent. Prominent interests identified with the bull side sold at one time but later on they bought. It was six of one and half a dozen of the other. On the other hand receipts were light, stocks were small, the general dry goods statistical position was regarded as strong, and in Texas the season is backward. Furthermore, Liverpool paid practically no attention to the decline here of yesterday and sent word that even today's slight decline there was likely to be only temporary. Many regarded today's decline as only a natural reaction. Stanch friends of cotton say that the end is not yet; that the signs toget it. the statistical position is so strong that cotton is entitled to a further advance, and is going to get it.

Cotton Notes.

New York, March 20.—Most people are still bullish, but the market goes down all the same. Inman was on the floor mostly all day, and people are asking why. It is beleved he is short and is quietly selling all the time. Prices keep up well, but there is little in the market. There is more disposition to buy than to sell. No one in particular is against cotton, but a number of Germans, keep out of it for some time. Inman sold at the opening and then bought. New Orleans has been buying News from Europe and the south today was very scarce Outside business is very quiet and unless Inman or some one else takes the lead it looks as if nothing at he moment is ahead.

Much better opening than expected; con-Much better opening than expected; considering Liverpool's weakness. A private cable believes the decline only temporary, and improvement will follow scon. The south is getting out a good line of shorts and they are likely to be run in. New Orleans special: On account of manipulation in the market prices are very irregular, and traders must bear this in mind.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

A Recovery Was Expected in Wheat, but the Unexpected Happened.

Chicago, March 20.-A recovery was exhappened and a decline occurred instead. At the close the net loss from yesterday was insignificant, but during the morning

At the close the net loss from yesterday was insignificant, but during the morning prices were more than a cent under that day's closing fugures. The loss on wheat was regained with the afternoon and was due to buying against puts and covering by shorts. There was very little outside trade, the bulk of the business being purely local and professional. The news was generally adverse to values. May wheat opened from 61%662%c, sold between 62% and 61%c, closing at 62%c bid, %6%c, under yesterday. Cash wheat was %c. lower, but closed stead.

Corn was inclined to weakness, and as wheat started the downward movement, the sympathy existing between the grains caused prices in this market to depreciate. When the finer grain recovered the coarse showed an absence of recuperative power and regained only a slight portion of the early loss. May corn opened at 29%c. closing at 29%c. sold between 29% and 29%c., closing at 29%c. 20%c. under yesterday. Cash corn was easy and 4c. per bushel lower.

Oats—Recessions took place in oats, influenced by the weakness which prevailed in wheat and corn. Business was small in volume and of no choice in character. May oats closed %c. lower. Cash oats were weak and %60%c. lower. Cash oats were weak and %60%c. lower. Cash oats were weak and %60%c. lower. The provisions—There was more pounding and more liquidating in provisions this morning, the effect of which was seen in a decline in all articles. The pressure was removed later in the session, and then prices worked back to where they were at the start. The bearishness of a certain prominent operator has had much to do with the recent break in this market, his own sales and those which his prestige induced by others controlling the market. At the close May pork was 2%c. higher than yesterday, May lard a shade higher and May ribs unchanged. Domestic market quiet.

Lamson Bros. & Co.'s Grain Letter.

Chicago, March 20.—The chief drawback to the market today seems to have been largely the unsatisfactory state of finance which is at present existing. This seems to have offset the good foreign demand that the decline has developed. The selling today has been largely by local professionals and St. Louis parties. New York people have been fair buyers, especially those with foreign connections. The export business is placed as high as eighty loads, and the transactions have been on a larger scale than for the past few days. The situation in the northwest has been bullish, still it is claimed a large number of new granaries have been built by the farmers in order to take care of their wheat. These granaries are still unpaid for, and the wheat will be sold in order to make payment, which falls due about April 1st. The demand under & seems to be good and should the news turn bullish, there would undoubtedly be a recovery. The political situation is very uncertain, and a war scare might change matters very materially. The Expytian situation continues threatening, and the calling of a meeting of the clearing house committee has caused some uneasiness in financial circles.

Corn and oats have been weak, the fine weather being the chief bear factor. May corn is getting down around 20c again, with a probability that that figure will soon be reached.

Provisions were weak early on receipts of hogs, but later became firm on buying by packers. The liquidation seems about over, and the market would likely rally quickly on higher receipts of hogs. Lamson Bros. & Co.'s Grain Letter.

Grain Notes.

Chicago, March 20.—Argentine wheat ship-ments will not fall off for some time. Mitchell has covered some wheat. He is supposed to have gone home short. Ar nour has been an open buyer in a moderate way. Brosseau has been an active seller. St. Louis was a heavy seller; also Brosseau and other local traders. New York and foreign houses were buying; also ele

Primary receipts: Wheat, 442,000, against 316,000; shipments, 136,000, against 118,000. Corn, 352,000, against 198,000; shipments, 101,000, against 75,000. Total clearances of wheat and flour, equal to 211,000 bushels of wheat; corn, 381,-

New York claims twenty-five loads taken for May and June shipment. The cash business here so far will amount to about 60,000 bushels. Ream is supposed to be a buyer of wheat. He was the seller early.

The selling of provisions today has been The selling of provisions today has been by John Cudahy, Hately, Wolff, Roloson, Sterling, and all the other Cudahy brokers had apparently selling orders from him in ribs and pork. The market suffered sharply. There has been a partial recovery on covering. Swift, Robins, Armour, Glades, Kirkwood and A. S. L Steinau Brings Action to Protect His Property.

IT WAS SOLD BY THE SHERIFF

B. Redwine Bought a Fi. Fa. and Then Had It Levied on Mr. Steinau's Home.

A temporary restraining order has been ranted by Judge Lumpkin restraining Sheriff Barnes and J. B. Redwine from fering with the property of Mr. L.

Sheriff Barnes was served with a copy o'clock and at the same time Mr. Redwine was notified that he must not interfere with the property which he claimed was sold to him at a sale of the sheriff

Last week Mr. Steinau was asked to vacate his elegant home on Washington street, as his property had been sold to Mr. Redwine. The sale, it was also to Redwine. The sale, it was claimed, been made under a fi. fa. which was held by Redwine, but Mr. Steinau claimed that he had never been notified as required by law. The notification received by Mr. was through Attorney T. W. Latham, representing Mr. Redwine, and the latter asked that the property be va-

tigation and held a conference with his at-torneys, Bishop, Hill & Andrews, when it was learned that the claim of Mr. Red-wine was based on the sale of the property under a fi. fa. which he held from the of-

It is claimed that the description was very vague and that even Sheriff Barnes did not know that he was selling the home of Mr. Steinau at the time the sale was conducted. The property was bought in under the fi. fa. sale by Mr. Redwine for $10.

for $15.7.

The house and lot is said to be easily worth $6,700 and is located on the corner of Washington and Love streets. The description given was very misleading and no one in the office of Sheriff Barnes for a moment dreamed that the property described was that of Mr. Steinau. The sale

Sheriff Barnes Was Surprised. When Sheriff Barnes was yesterday served with the injunction he was himself surprised, as he did not remember to have sold the home of Mr. Steinau.

"From the description given me." said the sheriff yesterday afternoon, "I would never have known that the property was located at the corner of Washington and Love streets.

Love streets.

"We never see the property which is sold, except the deputy who serves the notice. Sometimes this notice is served on the parties at their city office, so it is not necessary, for us to go out to the place. From Alie description I am frank to confess I would never have known that the property sold was that of Mr. Steinau."

They matter will be heard in chambers before Judge Lumpkin next Saturday.

NEWS OF THE COURTS

Mrs. Ferguson Brings Suit Against the City for Damages.

THE PRICE OF TWO FINGERS

The Action of a Bailiff in Seizing the Wrong Property Results in a Damage Suit.

A damage suit against the city has beer filed by Mrs. Florida Ferguson for injuries sustained on account of the rough condition of the sidewalk on Gray street.

Mrs. Ferguson, through her attorneys, Burckhart & Hamilton, alleges that she has been permanently injured by falling and that the fall was on account of a wash in the sidewalk on Gray street, which was allowed to remain, although the city had

She claims that she was walking down the street and stepped into a little excava-tion which had been made by the water and in the fall she sustained damages and injuries from which she will never fully Her left hip was broken and other permanent injuries sustained. She says she was on the sidewalk and was exercising due carefulness and was not to blame in the matter. The city, she claims, had received notice of the place in the sidewalk and is therefore responsible for not having re-paired the defect before pedestrians were injured.

The plaintiff alleges she was injured last April. The petition was filed yesterday morning in the office of Clerk Tanner and will be heard at the next term of the city

A Bailiff Causes a Suit. A Bailiff Causes a Suit.

Msr. Lillian Shockley, through her attorney, C. B. Reynolds, has brought suit against Camp Bros. & Co. on account of a levy which was made several months ago by Bailiff B. C. Summers.

She claims that on May 3, 1894, she had some household goods stored and packed in a freight car, which was standing on the Middlebrooks sidetrack, ready to be shipped to Dallis, Tex. Just before the train was ready to leave she alleges that Bailiff Summers, accompanied by Mr. M. P. Camp, levied on the goods and carried them away over her protest.

revied on the goods and carried them away over her protest.

The goods were levied on as the property of 0. 1. Culberson, she claims, and though she swore the goods were her property, the balliff turned a deaf ear and would not listen to her entreaties to let the goods remain in the car. She says the goods were carried to the courtroom of a justice of the peace, and at the trial were released, but many of the pieces of furniture wer missing and that which was returned was badly damaged. damaged.

She asks that the court give her a verdict of $500 against Camp Bros., as she was damaged in that amount and was also humiliated and disgraced by having her goods levied upon and taken from her.

He Wants To Get His Money. Henry Baker, a citizen of Cobb county, filed a petition yesterday in the office of the superior court for an injunction restraining the bank in which he has some money from further holding up his funds in compliance with a garnishment which was issued from the justice court of Judge Bloodworth.

Bloodworth.

He claims that an attachment for $20 was levied upon his property and that the bank in which he had several dollars was garnisheed and he has since been denied the use of his money. He sets up that he is not a citizen of this county and is not within the jurisdiction of a justice court of this district. STRONG INDORSEMENT

For Commissioner Nesbitt and His Work in the Interest of Farmers. Commissioner Nesbitt's efforts to protect the farmers of Georgia against the sale of the so-called "Natural Plant Food" have received unexpected indorsement from the Ohio experiment station. After exposing by careful tests and analyses the true character of this compound, the station publishes the results and adds the following: "This unqualified indorsement from such high authority must be gratifying to the Georgia commissioner and will doubtless encourage him in his work for the benefit of the agricultural interests of his state

The Ohio experiment station bulletin says further:
"Commissioner Nesbitt, of the Georgia state department of agriculture, has re-cently issued an edict against the sale of soft phosphate in Georgia under the name of Natural Plant Food. We quote briefly from a letter by him to the Georgia farm-from a letter by him to the Georgia farmers:

"If the farmers of the state desire to try soft phosphate on their lands, the department of agriculture wishes them to do so with their eyes wide cpen, and on this account has forbidden the sale of this material under a name which indicates that it is of the same character as phosphate (acid phesphate), which it most certainly is not. It more closely approaches in character a fine ground phosphate rock."
"At the Ohio experiment station we are of the same mind as the Georgia commissioner, and give this matter publication through the courtesy of the newspapers that those who use fertilizers may buy soft phosphates for what they realiy are."

SENT TO JAIL.

Sam Davis, the Alleged Book Thief, Transferred to the County Jail. Sam Davis, the negro who is charged with burglarizing a private schoolhouse and a library, stealing about $225 worth of books, was transfered from the police station to the county jail yesterday. He was arrested by Detective Harris two or three days ago. A true bill has been found against the negro and he will be prosecuted in the superior court. The books stolen by the negro were recovered. They were hauled to the police station on a dray and have been returned to the

MAJOR RUSSELL PROMOTED.

IMPORTANT CHANGE IN THE OF-FICERS AT THE FORT.

Captain Charles Porter, of Washington, Will Be His Successor-Major Russell's Career.

An important change is soon to be made mong the officers at Fort McPherson. Major Russell, who has been stationed a that fort for over a year, is to be promoted, and Captain Charles Porter, now located in Washington, will succeed him. Captain Porter has just been promoted to major. Just when the change will be made is not Just when the change will be made is not known, but the appointment is now before congress for confirmation and the matter will be determined in a very few weeks.

Major Russell is to be promoted to the rank of lieutenant colonel of the Fourteenth infantry and will be located at Vancouver, Wash. He is a most efficient officer, and the news of his removal will be heard with much regret on the part of soldiers and his friends in Atlanta.

Captain Charles Porter has been an officer in the army since 1858, when he was made quartermaster sergeant of the Fifth infantry. He was promoted to the rank of first lieutenant in 1865. In January of 1870 he was transferred to the Eighth infantry, and in 1872 was appointed captain, which position he has held ever since.

Captain Porter is now in Washington on temporary duty in the recruiting service, where he will probably remain until transferred here.

Mrs. Cunningham Charges Her Husband With Neglect and Abuse.

SHE WAS GIVEN A DIVORCE

Several Divorce Petitions Were Filed Yesterday in the Office of the Superior Court.

Mrs. Alice Estelle Cunningham, after a narried life of more than twenty years, in which she alleges cruel and harsh treatment at the hands of her husband, was yesterday granted a divorce in the superior court.

Robert E. Cunningham twenty-four years ago in Augusta, and as a result of the union four children were born to her, all of whom are now living. Shortly after her marriage she discovered that her husband was a gambler and that he speculated in stocks and bonds and was a hanger on at the bucket snops where futures are sold, she says. She noted that he was living a fast life and was spending money rapidly and that his family was being neglected. She determined to do the best she could under the circumstances, and went to work with a will in the great battle of life. She labored patiently, hoping that he would sooner or later reform and leave his bad habits. At one time, when she was almost wanting for bread, she was forced to give him money, which he gambled away, and soon all was gone. Having wasted his means, he moved to Atlanta several years ago, it was said. They began life in the city in a boarding house, but he continued to drink and began to abuse her and curse her on all occasions. Her life became a burden. He went to Cincinnati, and later on telegraphed her to battle of life. She labored patiently, hor that she was compelled to return to Atlanta.

Her husband's sister finally gave him money and dressed him in good clothes and he returned to Atlanta. His conduct, instead of being improved, was worse than before. At one time he assaulted her: again he assaulted her son and on frequent occasions threatened the lives of his family. He was given a position on the police force, but on account of his intemperate habits was forced to lose his job and was again without a job. She said her life had been made missrable, and for the sake of her family she desired to be given a divorce. Time and again, she said, she had pleaded with him to reform, but of no avail and she now believes that he has ceased to love her.

The jury was out only a short time and returned with a verdict in her favor.

Marital Vows That Chafed.

Marital Vows That Chafed. Mrs. Elizabeth Sharpton says that she ears her drunken husband, D. L. Sharp-on, though now separated from her, will mes M. Spencer was given a divorce h his wife yesterday in the superior Court.

He had lived with his wife for ten years, but was unhappy and he believed she was not true to her marriage vows. Some time ago, he says, he discovered that his suspicions were well grounded and he never has returned to the home in which he was once a happy father.

The petition of James Trimble for divorce, which was granted yesterday, recites that his wife left him and lived with another man unknown to the petitioner.

He remonstrated with his wife, but with no effect, and asked for a total divorce. His petition was granted and he was given the liberty to marry again.

Salvation Army Well Satisfied in Its New Home. The Salvation Army held its first meeting in its new hall last night. It is not gener-ally known that the army has changed its quarters, and on account of that fact only a few persons were present.

The new hall, which is at 57 South Broad street, couldn't suit the purposes of the army better if it had been made to order.

The hall, though a small one, is as neal as a pin and will hold a vastly larger crowd than the old one. Under the careful super-vision of Mrs. Hartman the hall makes

The walls, which are spotlessly white, are adorned with appropriate mottoes, pictures and banners, and these show off to an advantage otherwise unobtained.

Captain Hartman is justly proud of his new quarters and thinks that he will soon be able to accomplish a great deal, and before the end of summer he hopes to have every seat occupied at the meetings. The locating of the hall near the center of

CALL FOR SPECIAL SESSION. A Petition Is in Circulation for a Council Meeting.

Mayor King will probably be requested to-day to call a special session of the general council.

And if the call is issued the meeting will probably take place Monday next. A paper addressed to Mayor King requesting him to call a meeting of the general council was circulated yesterday among the members of the body for their signatures and was quite freely signed by those approached. In order to secure a special meeting of the general council it is neces sary to present the mayor with a request for it which shall be signed by more than one member of the general council. The charter is silent as to the number of members who must sign the request, but waile as few as three or four members' names to a paper have resulted in a call, the paper usually carries a majority of the member ship of the council.

The contemplated meeting of the body has for its object a consideration of the city hall question. The paper was presented to quite a number of members of the general council yesterday by whom it was signed, but up to a late hour last night Mayor al council yesterday by whom it was signed, but up to a late hour last night Mayor King had not seen the paper, and, of course, had not issued the call for the special meeting.

had not issued the call for the special meeting.

"When the paper is presented I will issue the call," said Mayor King at midnight, in response to the 'phone. "So far I have not seen the paper, and have no knowledge of its existence except that I have heard such a paper was being circulated."

DUKE SOLD BOOKS

AND NOW HE IS CHARGED WITH HAVING STOLEN THEM.

Colonel Avery the Plaintiff-Some of His History of Georgia Volumes Stolen Several Days Ago.

J. H. Duke, formerly an employe of the Western and Atlantic railroad, he says, is under arrest at the police station, charged with the theft of twenty-four volumes of Colonel I. W. Avery's "His tory of Georgia," published several years ago. The books are valued at $2 per volume, and are said to have been stolen from a room in the Brown block, on Wall street, where they have been stored for Duke declared that he is not guilty of the charge. He admits that he had possession of the books, but claims that he got them from a negro. The books were sold to Meagin, the Marietta street book man, by Duke several days ago, and they were found at that place yesterday. It appears that Duke and the buyer placed a very low valuation on the books, they claiming that the volumes changed hands at the low price of 25 cents each.

Says He Is Innocent. Duke is thirty years of age. He is a well-dressed man and appears to deeply regret the trouble that confronts him. He says that he will be able to explain the case satisfactorily at the proper time.

'I am not guilty of the charge against me," said he last night. "I do not deny that I sold the books but I came into pos-session of them honorably. Some time ago a young negro came to me and wanted ago a young negro came to me and wanted to sell me some volumes of Avery's "History of Georgia." I told him that I could not use the books, as that is not my business. He said that he had taken the books for a debt and that he needed money badly, at the same time offering to let me have the books to be sold for him at the best price possible. He said that I could get a better price for them and that he would give me a percentage on every one sold.

For Twenty-Five Cents Each.

"I examined the books and found that they were not perfect. It seems that the printers got mixed up in getting out the books, some of the chapters ending abruptly without explanation. I knew that the volumes were worthless, but consented to try to sell them for the negro. When I took them to Meagin in lots of a dozen each, he would only give me 25 cents a volume for them, the entire twenty-four being sold at that price. I did not steal the books and if given an opportunity will find the negro and prove my innocence. I have lived in Atlanta a good many years and my friends know that I would not do such a thing as is charged against me."

Colonel Avery values the books at a much bischer work. Colonel Avery values the books at much higher price than does Duke and the book man. He stated to Detective Harris that they were worth $2 per vol-ume. The case will come up before Judge

A CHARGE OF FRAUD

Capital City Bank Attacks the Stilson-Collins Mortgages.

SENSATIONAL CHARGES MADE

The Officers of the Benk Claim That the Mortgages Were Illegally Executed.

An exceedingly interesting intervention has been filed by the Capital City bank in the case of the Gorham Manufacturing Company against the Stilson-Collins Jewelry Company, in which several charges of sensational nature are made.

The paper was filed yesterday by the bank through its attorneys, Goodwin and Westmoreland. A number of copies of the intervention were made and during the day were served on all parties at interest.

In the intervention it is charged upon information that money was taken from the business of the company and invested in a palatial residence, that loans were made to an insolvent party who was a relative of the owners of the business, and other acts not in keeping with the charter of the company were committed by its offi-

The attorneys for the bank placed the intervention in the hands of Judge Lumpkin for his consideration, which, after he had read it, was granted and an order to serve the parties at interest was signed. The case will be heard as soon as it can be reached and it is expected that some final action will be taken and the business will be settled by the court. No date has been set for a hearing yet.

The peition prays that the residence of Mrs. Slaton, on West Peachtree street, be made subject to the debts of the company and that the title to the house and lot be vested in the Stilson-Collins Jewelry Com-pany. A judgment is also asked to be issued against the house for the amount of money which the corporation loaned Mr. James R. Collins. The Claim of the Bank.

The intervention filed by the officers of the Capital City bank shows that fifty shares of stock of the Stilson-Collins Jewelry Company were placed with the bank as security for a debt which was owed to the bank, and that authority was given provided the debt was not paid at ma-It is said that the money was not paid at the time at which it matured, and the stock was regularly sold, after it had been advertised in the usual manner. The stock was sold on December 21st of last year and was bought in by the bank for $3,600, and that amount was placed as a credit upon the debt owed to the bank.

A new certificate for the stock, which was taken as the property of W. R. Collins, was then issued and the old stock was cancelled. Previous to the purchase of the stock the bank claims to have asked both Mr. Collins and Mr. Stilson in regard to the condition of the business and state that they were informed that the house was making money and had paid a dividend of per cent the year before.

False Statements Alleged by the Bank. The attorneys of the bank allege that the was bid in and bought by the bank upon the statements of the owners of the house and for no other reason. On the strength of the statement that the business was paying and that the stock was worth par, the bank claims that the purchase was The bank states that a statement of the condition of the business was asked for in January and they were told that stock was being taken at the time, but as soon as an inventory had been made a statement of its condition would be furnished the bank. This statement the bank claims was never furnished and nothing further was heard from the house until the mortgages were early in February and the bank says was without any notice or consultation with its officers, as should have been. It is charged that the statement from the owners of the business that stock was being taken was a misrepresentation, as, in their opinion, no inventory had been taken at that time.

Enjoyed a Good Business.

The bank claims that a statement from the books of the Stilson-Collins Company showed that many sales had been made during the fall and that the profits were large. All at once the sales fell off and in a short while the house went under.

a short while the house went under.

The books, it is said, show that a very large business was enjoyed by the house during the exposition, when the city was crowded with customers.

The intervention further sets out the fact on information and belief that money was taken from the business with which to construct the new residence of Mrs. Stilson, on West Peachtree street, and claims that this piece of property should be made subject to the debts of the firm. It is also charged that Mr. Stilson withdrew money from the business for his own individual use without accounting for the same.

It is alleged that during the last six or ten months Mr. Stilson drank to excess and was in no condition to conduct his business as it should have been carried on.

The Firm Loaned Money. Another allegation of the intervention is that both Mr. Stilson and Mr. Collins abstracted money from the business and that a large amount of money was loaned Mr. James R. Collins, when it was known that he was not in the best of circumstances and that he failed shortly afterwards for $100,000.

The attorneys of the bank ask that all the mortgages filed by the firm be canceled; that the West Peachtree residence be made liable for the payments of the debts owned by the firm and that the title which may be claimed in this property by either Mr. and Mrs. Stilson be canceled and that the title be placed in the firm; that judgments may issue against the owners of the business for the money taken from the business and also for that which was loaned James R. Collins.

The bank, upon an order of Judge Lumped James R. Collins.

The bank, upon an order of Judge Lumpkin, was made a party in the case against the jewelry firm and all parties at interes will be served with copies of the interven-

AFFAIRS OF STATE.

Interesting Topic for Discussion Tomorrow Afternoon. The exercises at the railroad department of the Young Men's Christian Association, 44½ East Alabama street, tomorrow after-noon, at 3:30 o'clock, will be somewhat out of the usual order. "Affairs of State" is the unique topic and the short talks to be made are styled "echces from the con-vention." Those who will speak are: Mr. J. Frank Beck, chairman of the state committee: Mr. J. H. Latimer, Mr. R. P. Dodge, Mr. Charles A. Metcal'e and Mr. George W. Andrews. All but Mr. Beek are practical railroad men. These gen-tlemen were delegates from the railroad department to the recent state convendepartment to the recent state convention, at Augusta, which was one of the largest and best association conventions ever held in the state. The reports from these men will sparkle with pith and point and the exercises are sure to be very interesting. All railroad men, their wives and families and all who are interested in association work are requested to attend this service. Secretary Waggoner says: "We have no thought of running opposition to Sam Jones's meeting; we want every man who possibly can to go there, but we recognize the fact that there will be thousands of people in Atlanta who will not be able to get within a square of the tabernacle on Sunday afternoon, so we hold this service and throw our doors wide open to all who will come, and promise a service of interest and profile.

BADGES COME HIGH

Sampson Gets $3,000 for His Mementoes of Royalty.

GOES TO SETTLE CLAIMS

The Strong Man Wins His Suit by Compromise, but Gets None of It. How It Was Done.

Sampson the mighty, Sampson the strong, Sampson the muscular man of audeville, bal masque fame, gets the snug sum of $3,000 for the loss of his medals, mementoes of royalty and other apparatus which were lost in the wreck of a freight car on the Seaboard Air-Line road, just before the opening of the expo-

That is, this amount goes to the account of the strong man, and will be divided out to settle a number of claims which were put in against him before his departure from this city. This has been settled up by compromise through his attorneys and ends an interesting suit which has been pending for some time. It was in the days before the exposition. Sampson was in New York at the time, and had been secured by the Midway Trocadero to exhibit his marvelous feats of strength to the wondering multitude which was expected to crowd that well known resort. Sampson started with all his paraphernalia. He arrived, but the paraphernalia did not. During transit there was a small wreck on the road and among those things smashed were the medals and the outfit belonging to the strong man. He made his appearance, however, on time at the exposition with improvised apparatus and such gear as he could get up. Then he brought suit against the road. In this he claimed that the road had damaged him to the extent of $7,500. He claimed that he had been abroad and that upon certain occasions he had received recognition from the hands of royalty in the shape of numerous presents and tokens of esteem. For his feats of strength he had been awarded medals, which were worth thousands of dollars to him. He had received badges, which proved that he was a man of more than ordinary caliber. These were lost in the wreck and could never be replaced. Sampson grieved much over his loss and stated that he had been ruined. Through his lawyers, B. H. & C. D. Hill, he called for damage from the Sampson left the Midway and for some time was not seen in Atlanta. Then he bobbed up at the down-town Trocadero, where he played for several weeks as a where he played for several weeks as a kind of star. Then the Trocadero closed and with his wonted temerity the strong man leased the house and essayed to operate a refined vaudeville. Specialities were engaged from New York and for a week or two the place ran enough to meet expenses. Then came the climax when the place failed and a pretty blond, who used to sing comic songs, oftered her last dollar and declared that she would walk home if some one could be found who would whip Sampson. This offer she made public, but there was no one who cared at the time to undertake the job and Sampson continued his course without harm.

and Sampson continued his course without harm.

Then he planned to make a great hit and startled the community with a real bal masque. The community was startled when it came. There was an array of characters, both real and impersonated, never seen before in Atlanta, and the scarcity of costume in the classical attires of many was wondered at. It was a grand night of revel, ending with the arrest of Sampson for hitting a man with his huge fist.

Claims began to pour in. The Trocadero closed. What became of Sampson is not known, but when last heard from he was in one of the smaller south Georgia towns, playing the high tragsdy role.

Claims began to pour in. The Trocadero closed. What became of Sampson is not known, but when last heard from he was in one of the smaller south Georgia towns, playing the high tragedy role.

In the meantime Messrs, B. H. & C. D. Hill pressed his case against the road. It was learned several days ago that the case had been compromised and for his royal badges Sampson was to receive $3,000. But the strong man will get none of this. It has all been canceled by claims. Sampson's stay in Atlanta was not lucky.

FAIR AND WARMER TODAY.

A Pleasant Change To Occur in Our Weather. The weather maps of yesterday-both norning and evening-showed the centra valleys covered by a very large area o high barometric pressure, while the pres-sure diminished both to the northwest and the northeast. A storm was moving off the north Atlantic coast and the "low" in the northwest was deepening. The temper-ature, although abnormally low, was slow-ly climbing upward, except in the north-east, where a cold wave was still taking east, where a cold was effect.

During the day there was no precipitation except a flurry of snow at Atlanta, which only gave a trace of snowfall.

It is simply astonishing how many unsolicited indorsements of Dr. Charcot's Kola Nervine Tablets are daily received. Surely no remedy ever took such a hold upon the people and never was such earnest faith in a specific shown. As an example, here are a few from Boston alone and all received within two days:
Charles A. Hallowell, of the West End Drug Store, No. 165 Cambridge street, writes: "I find Dr. Charcot's Kola Nervine Tablets the best selling tonic on the market.
